LONG ISLAND CRASH TAKES TOLL OF FIVE

Indiana, Illinois Deaths Number 15 During 24-Hour Period

(By United Press Leased Wire)
COLUMBUS, Ind., July 30.—The total number of persons killed in crossing accidents on the Pennsylvania railroad in the last 24 hours in Indiana and Illinois was brought to fifteen today.

John Davis, 67, and William Carter, 62, were killed here when their speeding car hit a Pennsylvania train. Isaac Walters, 28, sustained a fractured skull.

Thirty-seven were killed and scores injured over Sunday when they were struck by speeding railroad trains.

Most of the casualties occurred when the trains crashed into automobiles on grade crossings. A single train en route from St. Louis to New York killed four in one accident, nine in a second and then killed a man, making fourteen in all.

Four women and a man were killed when their auto stalled in front of an express train on Long Island.

Four were killed at Gainesville, Ga., and four at Poplar Bluffs, Mo. Three were killed at Glassboro, N. J., two at Augusta, Kansas, and Wadesboro, N. C., and one in Detroit, Castleton Corners, Vermont, and Atlanta.

NEGRO KILLED DURING RAID ON DANCE

WORTH, Ill., July 30.—One negro was killed and four other persons, including two highway policemen, were injured in rioting that followed a negro invasion of a white dance here Sunday.

More than 150 negro construction gang workers, armed with razors and guns, raided the hall and took white women from escorts and husbands, compelling them to dance.

Village police were driven off with revolver shots. Police reinforcements from Argo engaged in a pitched battle with the negroes, who retreated to their camp, firing as they went. Other police with sawed off shot guns were called from Blue Island and the blacks took refuge in their box car homes, many later escaping on a freight train.

Highway Policemen Schanbaum and Ozinga were hurt in an automobile accident when bringing in two of four men arrested. The other casualties are negroes.

Reports 100 Slain In Russian Massacres Along Siberia Coast

NOME, Alaska, July 30.—Arrival of the United States revenue cutter Bear from Anayev on the Siberian coast tonight was awaited here for reports of alleged massacres by Russians, in a radius of a few hundred miles of the North Cape.

The schooner Silver Wave arrived here today bringing stories of the alleged killings. Captain Hammer of the Silver Wave said that approximately 100 persons have been killed. He said that the schooner Blue Sea, belonging to the Oles Swanson company, has been seized and taken to Anayev by the Russians who are said to be adherents of the Soviet government. All property of the Swanson company, which engages in trading in the far north, has been seized, he said. The seizure followed the reported discovery of a check for a half million dollars made out by the Swanson interests, in the possession of a "white" colonel executed last winter, according to Hammer.

Train Victim Confesses Slaying Wife

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 30.—Patrick Coyne, tortured by loss of his legs and the memories of a death struggle with his 18-year-old bride whom he murdered, today confessed to the crime.

The cripple, a patient in a hospital here, told of shooting his girl wife after a scuffle in their honeymoon cottage at Port Perry. He said he had been repudiating her for lying in bed and neglecting him. The wife's body was found in the locked cottage a few hours after a freight train had cut off Coyne's legs.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining, one of the largest refiners in the country, today cut the price of sugar fifty cents per 100 pounds. The new price, effective today, will be $8.50 per 100 pounds to wholesalers at the refinery.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Refined sugar was selling in the New York market this afternoon as low as $8.25 per hundred pounds as the result of a number of cuts made by big companies today, bringing the price down from about $9.00 per hundred.

In the afternoon Arbuckle Brothers and E. Atkins and company were quoting at $8.25 with the rest of the big companies at the $8.35 level.

GERMANY HAS QUIET DAY DESPITE THREAT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
BERLIN, July 30.—Inclement weather and extraordinary police precautions combined to quench the threatened trouble of "anti-fascist" day.

Sunday was surprisingly quiet throughout the country where thousands of communists had been expected to demonstrate against fascist and against the Cuno government. Disorders occurred at the little city of Neuruppin, not far from here, two communists being killed and nine wounded in a clash with police.

Open-air meetings and parades were forbidden and demonstrations at Potsdam and Berlin were tame affairs. The communists were prepared to inaugurate demonstrations throughout the occupied areas on the occasion of the two hundredth day of Ruhr invasion and expected to stir up disorders. Severely preventative police action dwarfed the movement into a series of minor parades, and even these broke up on the appearance of police.

Classics Return To Oklahoma University

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 30.—"Hoehandle" education was banished from Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college today by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. Teaching of classic languages, discontinued when George Wilson, radical, was named president of the college, was ordered resumed by Whitehurst. Wilson was ousted as president last week after a brief but stormy reign.

son company, which engages in trading in the far north, has been seized, he said. The seizure followed the reported discovery of a check for a half million dollars made out by the Swanson interests, in the possession of a "white" colonel executed last winter, according to Hammer. Captain Hammer's vessel was frozen in the ice during the winter on the Siberian coast and was seized but later released by the Russians, he said. Mrs. Hammer's hair had turned white as a result of her experiences. The revenue cutter Bear had advised all traders to keep away from the coast of Siberia pending settlement of the troubles.

EXECUTIVE IS ACCUSED

BANDITS GET $85,000 IN BOLD PLOT

One Dead, Four Wounded as Daring Band Stages Robbery on Train

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 30.—In a battle aboard a speeding electric passenger train, five bandits today killed a passenger and wounded four others before they snatched a satchel containing an $85,000 payroll and escaped into the hills. Posses of police are rushing in pursuit.

While the train was speeding along through a wooded section, the five men suddenly drew guns and demanded that all passengers hold up their hands. Then they began a search to ascertain whether anyone had weapons. Some of the passengers resisted and the bandits opened fire. There was a scramble for the doors. Men who rushed at the bandits were shot down.

Woman Is Shot. One woman, Mrs. Rose Kratavitz, was shot as she sat in her seat. The motorman fell wounded and the train came to a stop, giving the bandits a chance to escape. Edward J. Murphy, representative of the Maloney Oil company, a passenger, was shot through the heart and fell dead. The woman was so badly wounded that she is not expected to live.

The other wounded were: Philip Scherider, passenger, shot through the back; Patrick J. Durgan, motorman, shot through the chest; Arthur Harshall, postmaster of the West End Coal company, shot in the hip.

Escape Into Woods. The train was proceeding from Scranton to Wilkesbarre on its usual run. A little after 10 a. m., when it was passing south of Moosico, the bandits carrying out their plans, arose and leveled their pistols at the passengers.

After shooting up the train, they took the payroll satchel, which lay at the side of the wounded postmaster and dashed off into the woods.

City and state police immediately organized posses to begin the chase and they are beating through the hills hot on the trail.

THREE POWERS SEND REPLIES TO BRITISH

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LONDON, July 30.—Replies from the governments of France, Italy and Belgium to the British communications regarding a reparations note to Germany were delivered by the respective ambassadors of those countries to the foreign office tonight. The contents were not divulged.

The United Press learns from well-informed sources that the French reply frankly criticizes and rejects in conciliatory language the major English suggestion—for an impartial commission to fix a new reparations figure. The French also object to trading partial withdrawal from the Ruhr for cessation of passive resistance.

Belgium is forwarding a separate answer owing to her failure to agree with France on a flat refusal to submit Germany's capacity to pay to an international commission. There is no suggestion that the Franco-Belgian partnership is broken off, however. Belgium is attempting to bring France and England together.

Cave Under Highway Wrecks Big Truck

CHICO, July 30.—Caves dug by small boys in the bank of the Crouch ditch near the southern extremity of Chico caused the bank to collapse under the weight of a loaded wood truck. The large truck with startling swiftness toppled sideways and dropped seven feet into three feet of water. The driver, Oscar Harris, received slight injuries in a jump to safety and is confined in a hospital here.

2 Face Prison Terms for Defacing Jail

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—William Brooks and Russell Miller, two prisoners of the county chain gang, today faced penitentiary sentences because they defaced the Newhall jail in an escape attempt, which constitutes a felony.

The two men broke from the chain gang and were recaptured at Newhall by Deputy Sheriff Starkey after a wild foot race. They then secured an iron bar which was used in tearing out the brick wall. The second escape was prevented by the arrival of officers.

CALL EDITOR TO FACE NEW LIBEL FIGHT

SANTA FE, N. M., July 30.—Carl C. Magee, editor of the New Mexico State Tribune, is again summoned to appear in court today.

Magee was cited to file an answer here in a case of alleged criminal libel brought against him by Judge C. J. Roberts, who has acted as special prosecutor throughout previous libel and contempt trials.

After being convicted of libel and contempt of court in previous trials and sentenced to fines aggregating $4050, and to prison terms totalling two and one-half years, Magee was pardoned by Governor Hinkle.

SEEK TO PROVE BLACKMAIL IN DEATH CASE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Counsel for Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused of the "eldest murder" of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, today attempted to prove at the preliminary hearing that the arrest of the accused woman ten months after the murder was the outcome of a blackmail plot.

Defense attorneys, in cross examining Roy Klumb, who gave the police the information which resulted in her arrest, charged that he had threatened to "get her in trouble" in case she did not cancel notes for $600 which she had lent him.

A hot clash of defense and prosecution attorneys resulted from an attempt to question Klumb along these lines.

Klumb was questioned regarding his friendship with Oesterreich and his wife, his movements on the day of the murder and for several days preceding, and grilled severely on his story that he had been asked several days after the murder to dispose of a .25 caliber revolver by Mrs. Oesterreich.

Klumb said Farber, another witness in the case had disposed of the revolver for him in the La Brea oil pits.

FIRM FUNDS DISAPPEAR, IS CLAIM

Anaheim Building Company Head Played Wife's Poor Health in Hoax, Plaint

Authorities today were searching for Joseph Siegel, president of the Anaheim Building corporation, who is wanted on a charge of embezzlement, instituted by investors of the corporation, who alleged that Siegel disappeared with $885 of corporation funds.

F. C. Leonard, a director of the corporation, signed a formal complaint against Siegel late Saturday. A warrant for Siegel's arrest immediately was issued.

In view of recently projected activities of the concern headed by Siegel, which was said to have already completed $50,000 worth of buildings and to have plans for other extensive operations, including a large hotel in Anaheim, the asserted disappearance of its president, followed by such startling charges, created a sensation at the Mother Colony.

According to information said to have been given the district attorney's office, Siegel had taken charge of certain securities of his corporation to conduct an exchange for securities of a Long Beach concern. It was declared, however, that he had never completed the transaction. He is accused of taking the securities with him when he left Anaheim.

Siegel was declared to have departed about a week ago, supposedly bound for a hot springs for the benefit of his wife's health. His associates understood his destination to be Murietta Hot Springs. Restless because of his absence, they discovered, it was said, that Siegel had not visited Murietta Hot Springs.

According to a statement attributed to Lyman Davis, son-in-law of A. A. Mills, prominent Anaheim resident, who is said to be heavily interested in the building corporation, the funds or securities in possession of Siegel would amount to considerably more than the figure cited in the embezzlement charges. Mills, at present in Salt Lake City, has been summoned home by Davis, it was said.

Color was said to have been given Siegel when it was disclosed that his personal belongings in Anaheim also had disappeared.

Siegel had been operating a service station in North Los Angeles, near the Mexican settlement. The building corporation was organized in April, it was said.

Give Views on Sickness Of President

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Commenting on the formal bulletin as to President Harding's condition, physicians following the case interpreted it as follows:

The temperature, pulse and respiration are above normal.

Location of the trouble in the gall bladder region is a usual development of the affliction.

Absence of signs of peritonitis show the general condition of the abdominal region good.

The fact that the lungs are clear, shows there is no tendency towards heavy cold or pneumonia.

The trouble in the cardiovascular system means that the general circulatory system is suffering from strain.

WILSON ALSO STRICKEN ON COAST TRIP

Illness of President Harding Recalls Attack Suffered by Former Chief Executive.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30. President Harding is the second chief executive to be stricken while on a speaking tour through the western country.

In September, 1919, Woodrow Wilson was forced to abandon his trip in behalf of the League of Nations when he suffered a nervous collapse aboard his special train near Wichita, Kansas.

Mr. Harding had an attack of ptomaine poisoning and developed heart symptoms and is ill in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, having been forced to cancel the remainder of his Pacific coast speeches.

NEW SALVATION ARMY BUILDING PLANS DUE

With a loan procured, plans are now being drawn for the new building the Salvation Army is to erect on its lot on North Broadway street, immediately south of The Register building, it was announced today by John G. Mitchell, chairman of the advisory committee. Saturday Brigadier C. R. Body, Los Angeles, advised local committee members that an architect is now engaged in drawing plans and specifications for the new building.

At the same time, Mitchell announced the members of the committee which will develop plans and means for raising $22,500 for the local army, some time this fall. They are F. C. Blauer, C. F. Mitchell, C. C. Collins, Neal Beisel and P. S. Lucas. Mitchell said the committee would be called together at an early date to select a chairman.

Negotiations for the building loan have been made in Los Angeles and Mitchell was not familiar with the details. He said the brigadier expected to tender the plans to contractors within the next two weeks. It was his hope to have the structure completed before the rainy season sets in.

Mitchell said he did not know definitely whether the new structure would be of one or two stories, but he thought the front would contain two stories, as it was contemplated to provide living quarters for local officers of the religious organization.

In the contemplated drive for funds, it was planned to raise money enough to repay the loan of $15,000 for the building, wipe out a $3,000 indebtedness against the lot, and have $4,500 for operation of the local army for a year. This would include the county's apportionment to the state fund of the Army.

"30" Bulletins

CHICAGO, July 30.—Rube Marquard, Braves' pitcher, was struck in the forehead and knocked unconscious in the seventh inning of the Cubs' game here this afternoon. The ball was batted by Hack Miller, Cub outfielder. Marquard was revived and carried to the clubhouse. He is not believed to be seriously injured.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 30.—Four United States senators, members of the Agricultural and Progressive bloc—met here today and joined in a request of President Harding to call a special session of congress to provide relief for wheat farmers.

BULLETIN DECLARES EXECUTIVE SOON TO RETURN TO HEALTH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—No further bulletin will be issued by physicians attending President Harding until about 6 p. m. today, it was stated at 12:25 p. m. The President was given a small amount of broth this afternoon, the first nourishment he had taken during the day. This was considered an encouraging sign. Reports from the sick room at 1:30 p. m. were that the President was in a cheerful mood.

At 2:30 p. m. today it was learned the physicians attending President Harding would consult again at 4 p. m. and that the afternoon bulletin on the President's condition would be issued after that consultation. During the afternoon the transport Henderson, on which the President made his trip to Alaska and aboard which he was to continue through the canal to the Atlantic coast was ordered to San Francisco to be held in readiness should it be decided that Mr. Harding could better continue his trip by sea in order to have rest.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Physicians attending President Warren G. Harding, ill here, this morning, issued an optimistic statement on his condition.

The statement follows: "The President had a fairly comfortable night with several hours' sleep. His temperature at 9 a. m. was 101; pulse 115; respiration 33. "The abdominal symptoms follows the indigestive disorders which he experienced while on the boat are now localized in the gall bladder region. There are no peritonal symptoms. The lungs are clear. The white blood cells number 10,800. The kidneys are functioning satisfactorily and there are no disturbances of the nervous system except those associated with fatigue.

"While his condition is acute, he has temporarily overstrained his cardio-vascular system by carrying on his speaking engagements while ill."

Five Doctors Attending The bulletin was signed by Drs. C. E. Sawyer, Joel T. Boone, Ray Lyman Wilbur, Hubert Work, and C. M. Cooper.

In plain language the statement means that the president strained his heart but there is nothing organically wrong with it and as soon as the acute indigestion is cured and he gets a little rest, he will be as well as ever, according to physicians.

An official statement covering the plans for providing complete rest for the President probably will be issued during the day. The microscopic and other medical diagnosis which the physicians made indicated that the President never had been in complete health since he suffered an attack of the grippe about a year ago.

Under Heavy Strain The strain under which he labored during Mrs. Harding's illness and the arduous duties of his office prevented his return to normal health, the examinations showed.

The present condition was, of course, brought on by food he ate aboard the Henderson and the fatigue caused by his strenuous activities since leaving Washington. It was emphasized, however, in unofficial comment by members of the president's party on the physician's statement that the search for a cure for the President's chronic or organic trouble.

The prime requisite now is for absolute quiet and complete rest. At a conference to be held later today between physicians and members of the official party, a decision probably will be reached concerning the length of the president's stay in San Francisco and the date of his return to Washington.

Future Plans Undecided No decision has been reached as to the time the President will return to Washington. Neither has it been decided whether he will go through the canal or by rail, though General Sawyer said it would be better for him to go by rail rather than subject himself to the intense heat of the canal zone.

All plans regarding returning, however, are held in abeyance until the present situation can be cleared up. The illness from which the President now is suffering first developed.

Seek Mystery Vessel as Cause Of Sea Accident Near Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash., July 30.—Rivalling in mystery the "flying Dutchman" and ghost ships of the buccaner days of the Caribbean, a phantom vessel somewhere in Puget Sound is believed to have partially wrecked one five-masted barkentine, piled herself on the beach, only later to be washed free and at last reports was floating helplessly in the straits of Juan De Fuca this morning.

A total of five sea tragedies without loss of life have been reported in the straits since Friday morning. Beginning with the wrecking of the destroyer Zellin by the U. S. S. Henderson, carrying President Harding, the accidents continued Sunday with the partial wrecking of the five-masted ship Monterey by a mystery vessel that side-swiped her in the darkness and disappeared without stopping; the collision Saturday morning of the Japanese steamer Madasan Maru and the freighter Rainier and the final crashing ashore of the Furness line freighter Siberian Prince on the rocky coast of Bentinck island early Sunday morning.

The Siberian Prince was reported this morning to be in no danger, as she was lying in a natural dry dock with little sea-running. Her cargo was being lightered by the salvage tug Algerine and all the members of her crew were still aboard assisting in unloading.

OPEN PROBE OF RUM SEIZURE IN 'RAID'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Federal authorities took a hand in the double mystery surrounding the seizure of 400 cases of liquor at the home of Assemblyman Harry Morrison, 159 Dolores street, one night recently, and the counter raid of two nights later, in which the police interrupted a battle over 350 cases of 1923 Canadian whiskey in a garage at 24 Dore street.

Thomas Marshall, John Ames and Peter Foley, arrested in connection with the garage attack, which Ames claims was for the purpose of getting back Morrison's liquor, were arranged before Police Judge O'Brien on charges of burglary.

Dry Charge Dismissed

Charges of violating the prohibition act, which had been made, were dismissed with the consent of District Attorney Robert McMahon. The burglary cases were continued until later for a preliminary hearing. Each of the trio furnished $1000 bail and was released.

Prohibition Agent David Dinckel, a veteran of the service, was assigned to the federal investigation by Director Rutter. The investigation had failed either to locate the 400 cases stolen from Morrison or to establish ownership of the 350 cases over which the garage battle was waged.

Ownership Disclaimed

Morrison, a former saloon owner, who says his supply was one he held over from pre-Volstead days, disclaims ownership of the garage liquor, which shows by markings that it was shipped into Puget sound in 1923. He said he came to the garage because he received a telephone message that his liquor had been found there. In his haste he did not stop to find out who telephoned.

Bert Harris, on guard at the garage when the three raiders held him up with a pistol and started taking out the liquor, asserts that he knows nothing about the liquor. He was employed, he said, to guard cases of "airplane parts."

Assertion Doubtful

Police Captain Goff said that he did not attach great importance to Ames' assertion that he had been hired to rescue Morrison's liquor. The theft of Morrison's liquor had been widely heralded, Goff said, and would have been a natural excuse for anyone to give who was employing men to seize any liquor.

Two young asserted runaways, Tommy Walder, Los Angeles, and Donald Trouthman, Whittier, were brought to the Santa Ana police station yesterday by two women, who found the boys on the highway, they said. Stanley Walder and W. E. Trouthman, fathers of the boys, were notified and called for them.

S. A. BOY WINS SO. CAL. TITLE ON BICYCLE

Percy Martin, 17-year old son of L. E. Martin of this city, today was being hailed by his friends as the champion bicycle rider of Southern California, for the five-mile course, which he won yesterday at the Southern California Amateur Bicycle Club, Long Beach, who has held the championship for the past two years, in races at Los Angeles yesterday.

Martin covered the course in 14 minutes and one second. Points won yesterday, in addition to those made in elimination races here, gave him a total of twenty. For winning the championship he will receive a silver cup to be presented by the New Departure Manufacturing company.

By winning the contest, Martin will go to Fresno to represent Southern California in the state championship finals, to be run in that city next Sunday. If he wins in that class he will go to Chicago for the national championship races.

Carl Barnard, Orange, and Chester Dysert, Santa Ana, won first and second, respectively, in the half-mile races for the junior class, and will run in the state championships at Fresno.

The Orange county riders will go north next Friday, according to announcement made today by Henry Beisser, who has been in charge of elimination races here. Beisser will leave for Fresno Saturday.

BEGIN WORK ON EXTENSION OF CAPITOL

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—Steel construction work has been started on the second building of the capitol extension, the steel work having been completed on the first or library building. The second building will house state offices that are now located in the forum building.

Approximately 1500 tons of steel were used in the library building and, as the office structure will be practically a duplication, about the same amount of frame material will be required. With the steel up for the library building forms are being placed for pouring of the concrete.

Design Chosen

A design, symbolic of Sacramento's history, has been chosen for the coat of arms of the new Hotel Senator, now under construction opposite the capitol grounds. The design will embody a replica of the old C. P. Huntington locomotive of the Central Pacific and a river steamer. These figures are typical of Sacramento's position as a transportation center.

Sacramento's new filtration plant will be in operation by October 15, according to the latest reports of the engineers in charge of the construction operations. The task of filling in the ground around the plant is now under way, a large suction pump drawing water out of the river at the rate of 10,000 cubic feet of fill a day.

Building Slump

Building permits issued for the week by City Building Inspector Ben S. Covell showed the effects of the customary summer slump, although the amounts represented in the permits amounted to $81,015. A large permit was issued to John Kost Jr. for the erection of a 126,000 business apartment building.

Figures compiled by L. S. Patterson, secretary of the Master Builders' association, show that Sacramento was well in front of the cities of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys in per capita building permits issued in June. Patterson's table of comparison, based on the 1920 federal census and the total amount of permits issued for the month, follows:

Sacramento	.....	$ 890,480	$15.03
Oakland	.....	2,650,946	21.25
San Francisco	.....	4,213,346	8.31
San Jose	.....	501,550	7.25
Stockton	.....	269,560	6.88
Fresno	.....	242,306	5.37

An expansion program for the local Southern Pacific shops that will entail an expenditure of $388,000 is now in full swing. It is hoped to have the new units of the shop ready for operation within the next sixty days.

Movie Star Injured
By Accidental Shot

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Kenneth Harlan, movie star, was painfully injured today during the filming of a western scene when his revolver went off accidentally. The trigger caught in his overalls as he was attempting to draw. He received severe powder burns, and blank cartridges, numerous particles of wax were driven into his flesh. Measures to prevent blood poisoning were taken by Dr. J. J. O'Brien, who attended him.

State and Coroner's Jury at Variance on Missionary Death

No action will be taken by the district attorney's office here, it was stated today, with reference to an accident near Garden Grove in which A. R. Williams, African missionary, was alleged to have sustained fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile driven by T. B. Allen of Garden Grove.

Notwithstanding the verdict of a coroner's jury, which attributed the accident to "carelessness on the part of Allen in driving at an excessive rate of speed," the district attorney's office could see no grounds for a criminal complaint, according to Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin, who attended the inquest.

From the testimony offered at the inquest, Wetlin said, he considered Allen's part in the accident to have been unavoidable. He further disagreed with the jury's interpretation of the testimony to indicate that Allen had been driving at an excessive rate of speed.

In Speed Limit, Claim

It was testified, Wetlin said, that Allen had been driving at a rate within the speed limit of thirty miles an hour, which, he contended, was violating no law, inasmuch as the highway at that point, while built up on one side, was not posted as a twenty-mile or fifteen-mile speed limit zone. There would be no grounds, therefore, Wetlin said, to proceed against Allen.

The coroner's jury debated two hours upon the verdict when the inquest was held Saturday, at the Huddle undertaking parlors, Anaheim. The jury consisted of A. A. Slaback, foreman; William Pickering, J. F. McCracken, John Beat, L. F. Pomeroy and M. L. Seale.

Coroner Charles D. Brown conducted the inquest, Wetlin attending for observation purposes. Allen was represented by Attorney Clyde Bishop.

Falls to Testify

Allen, himself, did not testify. Ernest B. Kelsey, who was riding with Allen at the time Williams was struck down, while attempting to walk across the highway a quarter of a mile west of Garden Grove, late Wednesday, testified that Allen's car was traveling a rate within the speed limit, which he defined as thirty miles an hour.

Miss Marion Marsh, who, with Miss Sitha George, was walking along the highway about two blocks away from the point of the accident, estimated the car's speed at anywhere from thirty-five to forty miles an hour when it passed her. She said the car was going "quite fast." Miss George did not attempt to estimate the rate of speed.

Other testimony introduced tended to show that the car had struck Williams with terrific force, dragging him a distance of forty-one feet, and then continuing a short distance after he had fallen from the front fender and bumper. The bumper had been bent back against the front wheel and the fender also was bent, it was stated.

Hesitates on Boulevard

Testimony regarded by Wetlin as exonerating Allen, was to the effect that Williams, who had halted his own car on a side road leading into the boulevard from the left, had started across the boulevard at a point where the boulevard crossed the center of the highway, had turned back and forth twice and then started to run ahead. Allen swerved his car in an effort to avoid Williams, but the front bumper and fender had not quite cleared the pedestrian.

Williams, whose home was in Los Angeles, died Friday night at the Anaheim hospital. At first thought to have good chances for recovery, he suffered an internal hemorrhage, which proved fatal.

Said to have spent twenty-four years as a missionary in the Belgian Congo, under direction of the Christian Missionary association, Williams had passports for another African trip. He expected to start his journey this week, it was said.

$385 IN FINES COLLECTED BY HEATHMAN

"Little Mexico" gathered in force in the court of City Recorder W. P. Heathman today on the occasion of two colony members being charged with violations of various sections of the prohibition ordinance. Mexican women with babies in their arms lined the walls while their men folk occupied the few available chairs.

Frank Saldaña, charged with transporting liquor, was fined $150 by the city recorder. Lacking the fine he was committed to the county jail for 75 days.

Z. G. Sanchez, also charged with transporting liquor, paid a fine of $150.

Manuel Perez, and G. Gonzales, charged with frequenting a resort where liquor was sold, were discharged.

But Mexicans were not the only ones who appeared before Heathman.

B. L. Vest, who came before the city recorder today on a charge of transporting liquor in violation of the law, was fined $75. Heathman declared that due to Vest's business and family connections he had tempered justice with mercy.

C. H. Palmer, arrested on a charge of drunkenness, paid a fine of $10.

"Pretty good morning's business," declared Colonel Heathman as he balanced his books. "Collected $385 for the city today."

SUPPLIES DATA ON ORIGIN OF TOWN NAMES

TULARE, July 30.—P. J. S. Montgomery, who says a recent news story in which Field Secretary C. L. Kennedy of Tulare asked for information concerning historical data of the towns of Waukena, Earlimart, Dinuba and Terra Bella, for William Gladstone Steel of Eugene, Ore., who has passed more than fifty years compiling a history of names of towns which he expects to give the government, writes that he settled Terra Bella in 1907 and that Terra Bella means "Beautiful Lands."

Greek laborers engaged in building a railroad near Dinuba engaged in a free-for-all and the name of the camp was changed from "Siboleville" to "Dinuba," Greek for an old battle ground. Lindsay was named for Susie Lindsay, wife of Captain A. J. Hutcherson; Alpigh for a Mr. Alpigh of the Home Extension Colony Association; Woodville for Thomas Woodville Holder, brother of Jas. S. Slover, founder; Alta Peak for Hale Thorpe, a cattleman in 1850. "Alta" meaning "high" in Spanish; Ash Peaks by John W. Lovelace in 1880, because of the color of the peaks; Cabin Meadow by the National Park Service rangers in 1918, because of an old cabin found there.

Three Rivers was first called "Bula" and the name was changed by three early settlers to Three Rivers. Visalia was named for Nathaniel Vise and his wife, "Sallia." Vise donating the original site, Tulare took its name from the "Tules" or grasses along the shore of the Tulare lake. An Indian tribe was also known by that name. Some are still living on the Tule Reservation near Porterville. Porterville was named from Porter Pnam, pioneer.

OFFICIALS OF CITY MADE TO 'PUNGE UP'

Cynics have suggested that a city official can "get away with murder." But he can't get away with a water bill as long as Walter Wray is superintendent of Santa Ana's water supply.

The superintendent today was the storm center about which raged numerous city officials. At least, judging from the commotion, they were quite numerous.

It seems that numerous city official households today were without water—service disconnected until over-due bills paid, according to official tags on the taps.

"Outrageous," declared the city officials. But finding argument vain, they began to "soothe and smile," as Christopher Morley remarked.

"The outcome of the fracas was that much money flowed into the water department treasury today and Mrs. Murray, chief thereof, spent a busy morning with a motorized adding machine.

How's that, Mr. Cynic?

GRAPES BEING SHIPPED FROM SAN JOAQUIN

FRESNO, July 30.—With the first shipments of solid carloads of Thompson grapes, the Fresno district will soon be in the thick of the fruit shipping season, according to local fruit men. Shipments earlier in the season are confined mainly to other portions of the State, with pears and plums forming the majority of the cars Eastward bound.

The first solid carload has gone forward, and, according to reports, shippers were planning to get out several more. Part carloads of Thompsons had previously been shipped.

Warnings Issued

Warnings have been issued by the county horticultural commissioners against shipping grapes which do not test to 17 per cent sugar, as required by law. Shipments will be confiscated when found below the required sugar content, according to Fred P. Roulard, county horticultural commissioner.

Fresno becomes the center of another great co-operative association with the decision to enter the active business of marketing this season by the California Olive Growers. Fresno will have the home office of the olive growers, in addition to those of the raisin and peach associations. C. E. ## Dairy Event

Fresno county will have its own special dairy event at the Fresno district fair, according to decision announced through Manager H. E. Patterson of the Fresno county Chamber of Commerce. The event will be limited to Fresno county herds and will be for milk production, the testing to be done during the fair.

Horticultural commissioners of the San Joaquin valley, meeting here formed a tentative organization and planned for another meeting in October, when final organization will be perfected. The horticultural commissioners are desirous of having uniform regulations for the handling of their inspector work in the fruit belt and to that end formed a new classification for wine grapes to be known as commercial grade.

BRIGHT COLORS ARE POPULAR FOR SUMMER

By HEDDA HOYT,

Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mid-summer dresses are divided into two groups—the sheer, sleeveless chiffons and georgettes and the more formal cantons, satin-backed crepes and crepe de chenes.

Though the warm days have brought out numbers of chiffons and georgettes in both plain and printed effects, one sees an equal quantity of long-sleeved silk gowns in navy and black. Lace trims the plain chiffon frock, forming panels and a finish for the neck and short-capped sleeves.

The printed chiffon or georgette frock often has the design outlined in beads, though not in all-over effect, as the sheer materials can not stand too much additional weight. Often only the waist portion of the frock is outlined in beads. Sleeves are either very short in this type of frock, or entirely missing.

The slender silhouette is shown in most all gowns, although it is varied now and again by the detachable bustle-bow or the pleated flounce.

Taffetas and moire silks are made with the detachable bustle-bow effect and the bow can be removed if one wishes. Moire, by the way, is very popular at present. As the season advances it is predicted that shiny surfaced materials will replace dull surfaced materials.

Yellow Is Popular.

Summer frocks of the garden variety are favoring voile, dotted-swiss and French crepe. Pippings of contrasting materials are a popular trimming. Yellow is a leading color with orchid and Nile green following. One sees little all white, but white gowns combined with vivid colors are many. White lace-trimmed net is used over black taffeta frocks in apron effect on many dinner gowns.

Black and white effects are popular in dressy gowns, as well as in sport frocks. One sees many black crepe de chene jackets embroidered or printed in white.

Beaded gowns are still popular and the self-colored beads are more popular than beads of contrasting shades. Little all-over beadwork is to be found, but band effect and panel beading is popular.

Eyellet embroidery is again in fashion's favor and one sees it on many of the high-priced frocks worn over slips of contrasting color. Organdies and voiles are especially pretty worked in eyellet. It is even predicted that velvet gowns next winter will be worked in eyellet and worn over colored slips.

Twins losing favor.

Twins side panels are losing favor and the side drape, the one-side panel and the front panel or front drape, are shown on most of the newer dresses.

Evening gowns are heavily beaded and the beaded robe which may be purchased in semi-made condition in the shops can be made into a lovely gown of the formal type, since many of the new gowns are opened at the sides with pleated side panels or ruffles filling in the gap between the front and back of the skirt. One can usually match the color of the beaded robe in net or chiffon, either of which are suitable for making ruffs or side panels.

The fall tendency leans toward straight lined gowns with a suggestion of waistline or belt.

If one may give a "wor to the wise"—diet!

SOLONS TO ACTION LIGHTING SYSTEMS

Action on the petitions for ornamental lighting systems on West Fourth and East 4th West Fifth streets is schedule for tonight by the city council.

The council has discussed informally, and briefly, plans for creating lighting districts including the wholcity, with Fourth and Main streets as the division lines. The mayor intimated that no attempt would be made tonight to settle the strict problem.

OPENS WAR ON AGENTS POSING AS VETERANS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Aroused by the asserted fraudulent activities of swindlers who have gossiped the public by representing themselves as veterans, Morgan Keaton, department adjutant of the American Legion of California, is taking drastic steps to suppress spurious veterans' magazines today.

The Legion has discovered that many persons who did not serve in the war are wearing badges, buttons, medals and even decorations for valor, with a view of enlisting public sympathy for various questionable projects.

The publishers of spurious veterans' magazines have increased their operations to such an extent that they have gleaned more than $5,000,000 from the public within fourteen months, according to Keaton's information. Salesmen often peddle the publications with the plea of "help ex-soldiers," "proceeds help disabled men;" "wounded myself in France, and cannot get a job," he said.

In most cases the peddlers were not in the war and many agents were found to have bought "wound buttons" from private concerns, it was added. Magazines have been disposed of some at 25 cents a copy, entailing a profit of from 17 to 19 cents.

"This situation tends to injure and is harmful and detrimental to the interests of all veterans," Adjutant Keaton said. "The respect and regard which the people necessarily and properly hold for them thus is lessened, and the practice permits gross frauds upon the public in the name of the veterans of the World War."

Keaton hopes to secure the aid of the Advertising clubs, chambers of commerce, and police authorities in his campaign, it was explained.

Aged Rancher Killed By Engine on Farm

TAFT, July 30.—With his entire left side crushed in, two ribs penetrating his lungs and one arm broken in four places, John Jackson, 81, rancher of the McKittrick district, was found lying beside a gasoline engine on his son's ranch three hours after he had left the house to water cattle in a nearby field. Jackson, who was stone deaf and partially blind, was unconscious when found by relatives, and, although every possible medical aid was administered, he died at the West Side hospital.

Sound Cities Stake In Fleet Maneuvers

SEATTLE, Wash., July 30.—A bitter naval engagement, upon which, theoretically, will depend the fate of Seattle and other sound cities, will be waged by the battle ships of the Pacific fleet, in summer maneuvers off Port Angeles this week. The vessels began their maneuvers today leaving the Seattle harbor under the command of Admiral S. S. Robison.

HOLD NEW CHURCH SITE IN ABEYANCE

With the Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor, scheduled to leave this afternoon or early tomorrow morning for a month's vacation, further consideration of the proposal to buy a new site for the First Presbyterian church will be deferred until after his return, it was announced today by the pastor.

The proposal to buy the northwest corner of Walnut and Ross streets was not presented to the congregation yesterday, owing to H. J. Forgy, a member of the board, being called from the city unexpectedly.

The Rev. Mr. Roberts and his family contemplate passing the next week in Los Angeles, and the following week at Coronado, following which they will go to Asilomar, at Pacific Grove, where the minister will attend a convention of the California synod, August 14-24.

The Rev. Thomas Burt and the Rev. Henry Weiman of Occidental will supply the local pulpit during the month, it was announced. Special soloists of the church also will take a vacation for a month and music during the time will be provided by the choir chorus.

Tattle of the Town

"Red and green and blue colored shoes are doomed."
"A store needs its face washed about every four years."
"Oh yes, redecoration of any kind adds greatly to the amount of business a store does."

Those were among the leading statements of importance made by Fred Newcombe as he watched the paint brush artists rejuvenating the appearance of a certain shoe store on Fourth street.

A building within a building, is the vault at the new First National bank which is fast assuming the shape of a complete little building. One good look at the walls that are now being constructed will serve to convince one that Louis Beyer, contractor's assistant, knows what he is talking about when he says "there isn't a chance of a burglar getting into that vault."

Everything from soup to nuts. That's what campers are taking with them this summer, say the proprietors of the leading outfitting stores in Santa Ana.

Great long lists, which have been sorted over dozens of time, are brought in to these stores, where the salesmen have great fun hearing all about the fish that are to be caught and explain the value of this or that piece of folding furniture, from cups to tents.

"Anticipation is surely a big part of the fun of the trip," say the salesmen, who add that they are having a great summer camping by proxy.

Patronizing home industry. That's what the contractors on the job at the new Pacific Telephone building are doing.

"Virtually all of the material and the labor that are going into this building is taken from Santa Ana," J. A. Mathews, engineer for the construction, said today.

Three stories and the floor of the fourth story make up this substantial little palace, which will be headquarters for the "hello girls" of the city after November.

feet long and will hold 5000 gallons of fresh water.

An international commercial combine can be seen in operation on the streets of Santa Ana almost any time.

The partners in the firm are a little Mexican boy and an American youngster. They push a two-wheeled cart about town collecting newspapers.

Who said Santa Ana wasn't stretching out?

In the ninth block of West Fourth street three new business blocks, two of which are nearing completion, and a third, for which the excavation is now being made, are under construction. That makes Santa Ana's business section on Fourth street fifteen blocks long.

Umbrellas will not be needed any longer in Santa Ana's business district if the fashion for fancy glass eyeshades, for store buildings, continues in vogue. Several new ones are under construction and are long Fourth street will be truly metropolitan, at least along the shade line.

"Human Wreckage" isn't in it with the tragedies of mechanical misfortune evidenced in the graveyard of automotive has-beens in a wrecking yard on East Fourth street.

Assuming the saddest postures, with discouragement in every line, minus both internal workings and external accessories, the poor things have been left to die. If you aren't kind to your new diver just go round to look at the three dozen or more ancestors of the modern running generation and take warning.

Spokane Physician Will Practice Here

Joining the ranks of the city's physicians is Dr. W. T. Schwabland, formerly of Spokane, Wash., who, with Mrs. Schwabland, has been spending the winter in California.

Charms of Santa Ana proved irresistible, and Dr. Schwabland decided to locate here for the practice of surgery, he said. He will be located at 203 Sprague building, where he will share the suite of offices occupied by Dr. C. H. Brooks. Dr. Schwabland has practiced more than a dozen years and, in addition to his original course, had post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins and at the Mayo Brothers' clinic, it was learned.

SUBDIVISION WILL OPEN WITH SUPPER

Tomorrow afternoon and evening, will see another of those epochal events which are aiding to keep Orange county in the van of progress and development. Who has not noticed, when motoring from Capistrano toward San Diego, the bold promontory to the right just as the highway turns south along the coast at Serra? Dana's point, so named in honor of the author of one of America's classics—"Two Years Before the Mast"—is now to become the local of the most modern restricted subdivisions on the Pacific coast. Owned, financed and managed by far-seeing residents of Orange county—men who have backed their judgment by their means—the new subdivision, "Point Dana," needs no introduction. Tomorrow the moon will shed its silvery beams on a throng of happy folks who will gather on the immaculate beach near the very spot where Dana and his shipmates landed aboard the Pilgrim. This throng also will negotiate the new stairway, cut in the solid rock, leading to the beach, for the sunset supper at 6 p. m. The subdivision company is host, and you need bring along nothing but friends and appetites, company officials pointed out.

King Buys Canadian Cattle for England

OTTAWA, Ont., July 30.—King George of England has purchased a herd of Canadian store cattle for his farm at Sandringham, according to cable advices received by the Dominion department of agriculture. The cattle were brought in the Norwich market and were part of the first consignment of Canadian store cattle sold in England since 1895. The sale of Canadian store cattle in England, it is pointed out, has been made possible by the official removal of the embargo imposed by the United Kingdom in 1895.

SECRET PARLEY CLOUDS 'GAS' PRICE WAR

With rumors current here today that officials of the larger gasoline distributing concerns had held a conference in Los Angeles Saturday, with the Standard Oil company included in the group, local consumers of the fuel today were awaiting the next move in the price war now raging throughout Southern California.

Whether the conference decided on a future cut, with a view to silencing the "bothersome" independents, or agreed to maintain prices and use influence to force the independents in line, was not known here.

It is probable results will not be known until some action is taken in the matter of prices. Local managers of the big concerns today would make no prediction as to future prices, declaring they had no information upon which to base a declaration.

"Freeze" Game Seen. It has been intimated, however, that the big companies would adopt the policy of low prices to "freeze out" the small concerns, prediction being made that cuts to 11 and 12 cents would be made.

Locally there was no change in price conditions obtaining the latter part of last week. Some stations today continued to retail gasoline at 17½ cents without coupon books, while at other stations the rate was available by use of coupon books or gallon books.

The Union Oil company and the Shell Oil company are passing out free books with coupons good for one gallon of fuel at 17½ cents. The gallon books are good at any station dispensing the products of either company.

Sell Coupon Books. The Standard Oil company is selling coupon books that entitle purchasers to 2 cents off the retail price of 19½ cents.

It is understood that the Standard company is preparing for a radical change in its policy of handling coupon books. Issuance of instructions to permit acceptance of Standard coupons at independent stations selling its gasoline is believed to be contemplated. While it is definitely known that some local stations already have been authorized to accept the coupons, it is said that definite instructions for general application of the policy have not been issued by the main office.

CHILD 6, IS SLEEP WALKER ON DESERT

LODI, Calif., July 30.—A most unusual thing happened to Clyde Giles and wife and Mel Grafigna of this city while crossing the desert between Mono lake and Lake Tahoe on Monday night. When well out on the desert and near midnight they found a 6-year-old girl asleep—carelessly walking about as if nothing unusual was going on.

The child was awakened and could not give much history of herself nor tell where the camp she came from was located. It was learned that she belonged to a party consisting of two automobile loads of people and that she had gone to bed with her parents. After driving for several hours in search of the camp, the Lodians found another camper and his wife who were spending the night on the desert and who volunteered to care for the child until daylight and then start a search for her parents. The Lodi party left the little girl with them and hastened to get off the desert before daylight and the extreme heat of the day.

In speaking of their find, Grafigna said the most hair-raising sights he met in France made nothing near the impression on him that the little girl did when in the middle of the night, away out on the desert, he saw the childish figure clad in white, with empty sleeves of her night robe blowing about in the desert breeze, silently walking about in her bare feet.

Department of agriculture designates 4467 miles California roads to receive federal aid. Marysville—Reclamation of 6,000 acres in Yuba county under way, cost to total $150,000. San Francisco—Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co. to establish distributing and service headquarters in this city.

Stockton—Southern Pacific company to add cannery trains to service.

To Bring Prisoner Here from Georgia

Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan, armed with requisition papers, was en route today to Sacramento, where he expected to secure extradition papers from the Governor's office, asking the return of Fenton Chaplin, former Huntington Beach publisher wanted in this county on a charge of floating bad checks, who is under arrest at Waycross, Ga.

McClellan expects to go directly from Sacramento to Georgia to get his prisoner.

SAYS YOUTH OF S. A. SPENDING EARNINGS

Are Santa Ana children spending?

Are the school children who are earning money at summer jobs saving or spending?

These questions put to Santa Ana bankers today caused them to launch an earnest discourse which indicated their concern about the saving propensities of the modern youth.

"Most of them spend it," said E. P. Stafford, at the Farmers' and Merchants' Savings bank.

"The only ones who save in the summer are those who are consistent savers the year around," was the answer given by H. M. Sammis, of the Santa Ana branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank.

Some Good Savers. "They may not be saving it by putting it in the bank," said Harry Hanson, at the First National bank. "But I believe they are spending it for worth-while things, such as radio sets."

"I haven't noticed that they are saving it," concluded George Peters, of the Orange County Savings bank.

"Spending it," added E. H. Richards of the American National bank. "They are spending their money for a good time."

Thus the bankers summed up their impressions of the summer saving of the majority of the children.

But each had much to say regarding conspicuous cases of children who are savers.

School Training Urged.

"It's a habit," Peters said in making some pertinent remarks about the responsibility of parents teaching their children the saving habit early. Peters believes he safe investments for even the children and thinks that these things should be stressed in the schools.

"I have noticed a decided effect upon the saving habits of the children since thrift has been taught in the schools," Richards declared and the bankers were unanimous that the teaching of thrift is a decided factor in promoting the habit of wise expenditure and saving.

Another point on which the bankers generally agreed, was that thrift devices are not a success.

Books Best Stimulus. Stamps, little banks, and other methods aimed at prompting thrift become tiresome to the child and he loses interest, it was pointed out.

Straight savings deposits are the best thing, it was agreed. The thrill of watching the amount grow in the pass book was held to be the best savings stimulus for the child.

"The backbone of the whole thing is the keeping of accurate accounts," Sammis stated, "and school parents should start this habit as early as possible among the children."

AERIAL CHIEFS TO BE GUESTS OF ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—Official notice of the holding in St. Louis of the Third National Aero congress, October 1, 2 and 3, in connection with the International Air Races on those dates, is made by the St. Louis Aeronautic corporation under whose supervision both the congress and races will be held.

The congress will include as its major item the convention of the National Aeronautic association, the governing body of aviation in this country and successor to the old Aero club of America. Formed at Detroit last year, the National Aeronautic association has developed a country-wide membership, corresponding in aviation to the A. A. A. in the automobile world. It is under the sanction of this association that the national races are awarded each year to various cities.

Plan Big Banquet. In addition to the business sessions of the convention, one item on the three-day program will be the annual banquet of the Aero congress. This will be held on the evening of October 2.

Another of the important meetings scheduled for the three-day period will be the annual meeting of the National Air Institute, held under the supervision of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the committee representing the National Advisory committee for Aeronautics, Society of Automotive Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the National Aeronautic association. At this institute will be present the country's leading aviation engineers and advisory experts, both from the government and civilian ranks.

Many Noted Guests. Among the distinguished guests expected to attend the congress are: Orville Wright, the "father" of flying; Glenn H. Curtiss, airplane designer and inventor; Howard E. Coffin, chairman of the Air-craft Production board during the war and now president of the National Aeronautic association, and Samuel S. Bradley, general manager of the Aeronautic Chamber of Commerce.

The army will be officially represented, it is expected by General Pershing. The Air service will have present both Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of United States Air service, and Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief United States Air service. For the navy, there will be Rear Admiral William F. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics. Hundreds of army, navy and Marine corps officials of lower rank will be present.

Betrothals Weddings Reception

Former Santa Ana Girl Married in San Diego

Of interest to her many school friends here will be the report of the marriage of Miss Blanche Kelly to Irving Raymond at San Diego last week.

Miss Kelly recently moved to San Diego, leaving the high school here much to the regret of her many friends.

Her wedding, which was a simple one, was a complete surprise to even her friends in San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond will make their home in San Diego, where Mr. Raymond is engaged in business.

Pretty Wedding For Arizona Girl

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Freeman, 2527 Santiago avenue, was the scene of a very happy event Saturday evening, when Miss Beatrice Abraham Chamberlaine, daughter of the late George W. Chamberlaine of Washington, D. C., became the bride of Richmond S. Smith, of Tucson, Arizona. The Rev. Otto Russell, of the First Baptist church was the officiating clergyman in the beautiful double ring ceremony.

The bride, who looked lovely in her white Georgette gown, wedding gown with pearls, carried a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley, gardenia and maiden hair fern. She was given into the keeping of the bridegroom by her mother, Mrs. B. R. Chamberlaine, who with her family live in Tucson, Arizona, but who is spending the summer months in Santa Ana. Mr. Smith was attended by the bride's brother, John Chamberlaine.

The bridal party stood under a canopy of plumosis fern before the fire place which was completely banked with papyrus and golden dahlias while a profusion of beautiful pink hydrangeas and pink dahlias graced the living and dining rooms. Congratulations followed the ceremony and the bride opened the wedding gifts of her Santa Ana friends. The bridal couple left for their home in Los Angeles, showered with rice and the best wishes of their friends.

Guests invited by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Chamberlaine to witness the marriage ceremony were Miss Jean Chamberlaine, sister of the bride, Mrs. Frances Dresser, Mrs. Rose Barton, Miss Orta Salmon and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Theal.

Fifteen New Babies at Hospital

Fifteen babies, ten boys and five girls are new arrivals at the county hospital during the last week.

The story takes no account of the crowded condition of the hospital, the matron said, as she gave the names of the proud parents of the fifteen new little citizens, as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Conkle, West Hickey, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith, 600 Fruit street, a girl; J. Johnson, Los Angeles, a boy; A. McCollum, Huntington Beach, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Malleria, North Garnsey, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Truxler, a boy.

HIDES IN STORE TO SECURE NEW OUTFIT

OAKLAND, July 30. — When Mrs. M. E. Henning, an employee of a local department store opened the door of a small closet in the store yesterday, a girl, who had been in some of the latest and most expensive Parisian creations, swept by her and tripped majestically down the aisle of the store. Mrs. Henning recovered her poise in time to notify a floor walker before the queenly beauty had left the store. Then she hurried back to the closet.

In a corner were the tattered remains of a flapper's glory. For one night she had satisfied her desire for beautiful things to wear. Yesterday she had on her old clothes and was being held by the police pending an investigation. Officers believe the girl secreted herself in the store and allowed herself to be locked in.

The clothing the girl had on showed she visited several departments and outfitted herself from lingerie to earrings.

N. Y. Sharps Prey On Ignorant Aliens

NEW YORK, July 30.—Declaring swindlers who prey on immigrants are the meanest kind of thieves, Magistrate Silberman in West Side court held Abraham Boord, 27, and David Haimowitz, 20, in $100 bail on charges of disorderly conduct.

They were arrested after they had invited four Italian immigrants into a taxi cab, telling them they would be taken to Grand Central terminal.

Magistrate Silberman cited the case of an aged couple to whom swindlers sold subway tickets when they asked for tickets to Chicago. The couple rode all day until they learned of the swindle.

News Notes of Interest To Clubwomen

G. A. R. Holds Annual Picnic for the Shut-Ins

One of the most thoughtful pieces of G. A. R. service is the annual picnic for the shut-ins. Last Friday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sutton at 1017 North Spurgeon, eighty-five members of the local G. A. R. and W. R. C. gathered to meet those who are unable to go out regularly.

Automobiles, comfortably arranged, were sent out to bring in persons who were unable to travel at all. The pleasure of these people was the object of the picnic and members spent the day visiting with them.

A picnic lunch was served at noon and there was community singing after lunch.

Several visitors of note were among those who attended the picnic. Among these were Mrs. Nicholson, of Long Beach, who is the president of the Long Beach W. R. C. and active in the lodge work; Mr. and Mrs. Patterson of the Long Beach organization; and James Milner, department commander, who is also from Long Beach.

Christian Endeavor Beach Picnic

Forty-five Christian Endeavors from the First Baptist church enjoyed a unique picnic last Saturday night at Balboa.

Chartering a launch the party spent the evening riding around the bay, which was glorious in the moonlight, and one of the best features of the affair, it was decided, was the picnic supper on board the boat.

Plans for the evening were handled by Miss Maybelle Thurston.

Sport Sweaters Follow

Fashion's Blouse Lines

COPYRIGHT BY M. CALLES

A knitted costume this season looks smart whether the background is the ocean, the mountains, the links, the tennis court or just all outdoors.

Knitted things usually have had their own style, hardly ever showing the influence of other fashions. Now they are showing the influence of the latest styles.

Take, for instance, the bandanna blouse sweater made of Iceland wool and having a knitted bandanna around the neck. That's the newest of knitted fashions.

There's a slip-over sweater in diamond design with a V-neck that carries out the fashionable long line.

There's the sweater in Tuxedo style with a checker board pattern in front and plain in back.

For all these sweaters — and sweater blouses — a pleated skirt is the most appropriate.

Wedding of Popular Young People of Interest Here

The wedding of a former Santa Ana high school student and a recent graduate of the Orange high school will be of interest to friends in two cities.

Miss Ruth Magruder, of Orange, and Clayton Elmer Wray of Santa Ana were married Saturday morning at the First Presbyterian church in Orange.

Miss Magruder and Mr. Wray were unattended as they stood before the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who performed the simple ceremony.

Immediately following the wedding service, which was attended only by relatives of the principals, Mr. and Mrs. Wray left for a wedding trip to San Diego. They will make their home at the corner of Washington avenue and Broadway in this city.

Mrs. Wray is one of this year's graduates from the Orange high school where she has been a popular member of the student body and school activities.

Mr. Wray attended the high school here and is now employed at the Standard Oil plant on Santiago street.

Wedding Plans Kept a Secret

Keeping their wedding plans a secret as well as the destination of their wedding trip, Miss Marie Gillespie and Herman L. Trotter, both of this city slipped away and were quietly married Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Not even close relatives know whether the happy couple have gone North, South, East or West. Mr. and Mrs. Trotter will make their home in Santa Ana at least for the time being, while Mr. Trotter is engaged in farming here.

Mrs. Trotter was a student in the Santa Ana high school and for several years has been employed by the Walnut Grower's Association. Mr. Trotter attended grammar school here and was for two years in the service of the United States Navy aboard the U. S. S. California.

Personals

Miss Hazel Lambert, for several years an employee of the Hair Grow Shop, has returned from a six weeks' vacation trip to her home in Decatur, Illinois.

FIRE CLAY USE IS SHOWN IN PICTURES

WASHINGTON, July 30.—"The Story of Fire Clay Refractories" is the title of an industrial motion picture film which today has been issued by the department of the interior, bureau of mines. The film was prepared in co-operation with the Laclede-Christy Clay Products company.

The film depicts the mining of the raw clay, both in underground mining and by steam-shovel stripping operations. The various processes used in mixing fire clay, in moulding the clay by hand or machine, and in pressing the clay are shown in a series of graphic pictures. Laboratory methods for the examination of clays and fusion tests for determining their ability to withstand high temperatures are demonstrated. The actual burning of fire clay refractories in kilns, in temperatures ranging up to 2400 degrees Fahrenheit, is illustrated.

The widespread use of fire clay refractories in the industries also is shown. Interesting scenes showing the application of refractories in forge, malleable and electric furnaces are presented. The numerous uses of fire clay refractories in various processes used in glass-making and the making of glass products, together with the uses of refractories in cement kilns, enameling processes, the gas industry, the zinc industry, the automotive industry, in by-product coking and in the construction of boiler settings are demonstrated.

Many of the scenes in this picture were taken in extremely hot atmospheres, where it was necessary to use a specially-constructed, heat-resisting camera.

Copies of this film may be obtained by schools, churches, commercial organizations and other public organizations or institutions by applying to the department of the interior, bureau of mines, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GAS MASKS OF NO VALUE IN SOME AIR

WASHINGTON, July 30. — The widespread use of various types of gas masks and breathing apparatus in industries, and the fact that lives have been lost on account of the improper use of such devices, has led the department of the interior to conduct an investigation of the matter at the Pittsburgh experiment station of the bureau of mines.

Three types of respiratory apparatus—gas masks, hose masks, and self-contained oxygen-breathing apparatus—commonly are used for protection from noxious gases, vapors, and smokes or mists, but no particular type can be selected as best for all conditions, bureau of mines officials declare.

Gas masks are the simplest and easiest to wear, and the least cumbersome, but they protect only in comparatively low concentrations of noxious gases and should never be used where the air contains less than 18 per cent of oxygen, it was pointed out.

Used by Engineers. Hose masks protect in any irrespirable atmosphere, but they are somewhat cumbersome, the length of hose limiting the distance a wearer may go from fresh air. They are serviceable also when a supply of pure air moves with the wearer, as in cases in which a locomotive engineer, in a smoky tunnel, uses a hose mask supplied with air from the compressed air line of the locomotive. Hose masks consume no chemicals or materials, and so are not limited in the time they may be used.

Self-contained oxygen-breathing apparatus protect in any irrespirable atmosphere, but they are somewhat cumbersome. They can be used only by trained men, and frequent attention must be given them to maintain good working condition. On the other hand, they offer the only safe means for exploring mines and other places filled with irrespirable gases in high concentrations.

Gas masks do not protect against deficiencies of oxygen, since they are dependent on the air surrounding the wearer. Oxygen-breathing apparatus protect against all deficiencies of oxygen, hence are vital in exploring and rescue operations in mines after explosions and fires.

Hose masks and oxygen-breathing apparatus protect against any concentration of organic vapors, such as aniline, benzene, ether, toluene, and gasoline. Gas masks with canisters of activated charcoal protect in such concentrations averaging 2 per cent in air.

Knowledge of Gas Vitals. Hose masks and oxygen-breathing apparatus protect against any concentration of ammonia gas that the skin will bear. Special gas masks are required to give protection against ammonia gas concentrations.

Complete protection against dusts, smokes and mists are given both by hose masks and oxygen-breathing apparatus. Gas masks with canisters containing cotton-wool filters give protection in such atmospheres.

The wearer of a gas mask must have a knowledge of the concentrations of gas vapors in which he is working to assure that he does not exceed the capacity of his mask for protection purposes. Knowledge of this nature is not necessary in the use of hose masks and oxygen-breathing apparatus. The wearer of a hose mask requires very little instruction in its use. Very little instruction is needed in the case of gas masks, but care must be exercised that the right type of container is used. In the case of oxygen-breathing apparatus, however, a thorough course of instruction is needed, combined with training. The bureau of mines is prepared to give instruction without cost to qualified persons.

GRAIN PRICES DROP ON CHICAGO MARKET

Wheat Quotations Rally as Speculative Demand Increases in Pit

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, July 30.—Grain prices closed lower on the Chicago board of trade today.

Despite a weakened cash market and a marked increase in the visible supply, wheat prices rallied late in the day on good speculative demand.

The market opened weak to lower. Some buying was also induced by reports of heavy damage by rust emanating from the Canadian northwest and advices from Lincoln county, Nebraska, telling of heavy loss by hail along the North Platte river. The cash market was steady at one cent decline.

Local traders bought heavily of corn on the break. July, which was the weakest at the close today, attributed to selling out of long corns. Crops news was uniformly favorable.

Oats weakened with a poor demand at an 8-8 cents break in cash value.

Provisions maintained a weak undertone.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

News of President Harding's Illness Is Felt on N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK, July 30.—The stock market was irregular for the most part of the day with the selling pressure putting stocks down from a fraction to a point or more, which movement was followed by supporting orders causing stocks to firm to levels slightly above Saturday's closing, this condition of the market resulting in some new lows or 1923, notably U. S. Steel common under 86.

Absence of any constructive news from abroad and the completely unexpected serious turn taken by President Harding's health, left little incentive for aggressive buying.

Closing prices included:
U. S. Steel 85 1/2, up 1/2; Republic Iron and Steel 42 1/2, up 1/2; Baldwin 115, up 1/2; American Locomotive 68 1/2, up 1/2; Texas Company 40 1/4, up 1/4; Pan-American 58 3/4, up 3 1/8; Studebaker 103 1/8.

The savings of the American family is the bulwark of its independence. It is an insurance against want in adversity, provides relief in times of distress, and a freedom from care in old age.

These savings, either large or small, are the result of self-sacrifice and denial. They represent self-imposed economies of the wife and mother who, anxious for the welfare of her family, is ever willing to deny herself pleasure and recreation for the common good. They are the fruits of labor by the husband and father, and every dollar is a step toward the goal of independence.

Yet, despite all that these savings mean to the thrifty American family, the results of years of effort often are dissipated by the hasty and ill-considered purchase of some so-called security.

When a sum of money has been accumulated, slowly, dollar by dollar, each deposit meaning as it does, so much to the welfare of the family, the natural conclusion is that it would be invested only after the most rigid investigation.

Yet, forgetting the means by which the funds were accumulated, and the self-denials they represent, the first smooth-talking salesman with a stock proposition which he promises means independence, often is able to loot the savings of the family and to leave every member discouraged and bitter, with the belief that it is futile to save.

It is a tragedy that such crimes can be committed, but despite regulatory laws, it has been found impossible to eradicate the get-rich-quick swindler. The only one sure method lies in the education of the people. Not necessarily as to all the intricacies of finance, but the general truth that great returns involve great risk, and above all to the necessity of consultation with some reliable investment banker before buying any security.

If it ever becomes a practice for the uninitiated to consult reliable investment bankers before entrusting funds on any venture it would spell the doom of the fake promoter. One does not necessarily have to deal in thousands of dollars to gain this advice. Any reputable bond house gladly will give you the benefit of its knowledge regardless of the amount you may wish to invest.

Don't jeopardize your savings on your own opinion. They mean much to you. Think of the years consumed in their accumulation and guard them accordingly. When you decide to invest, seek a reputable bond house where you may be certain of obtaining safeguards for your funds.

Investments Least Understood of All Modern Activities

By James Wilbur

This is the seventh of a series of brief talks on investments written expressly for The Register. They are designed to interest the inexperienced investor to the end that the huge losses sustained annually by the American people through the purchase of fraudulent stocks may, in a measure, be reduced.

The savings of the American family is the bulwark of its independence. It is an insurance against want in adversity, provides relief in times of distress, and a freedom from care in old age.

These savings, either large or small, are the result of self-sacrifice and denial. ## SCIENTISTS TO BARE HORRORS OF NEXT WAR

BY HENRY WOOD
GENEVA, July 30.—The entire world is to know at once, scientifically and accurately, the full limit of horrors that may be expected in the next war from the use of poison gas and microbes.

Convinced that the best way to check this aspect of war is to create such a world-wide fear and terror of it that the public itself will take steps to render it impossible, the League of Nations has decided to try a little homeopathic experiment along this line. Acting under orders of the last general assembly of the league, a commission has just been appointed composed of the world's leading bacteriologists and chemists, to prepare a full report on just what the world must count on in future wars from the use of poison gas and microbes.

Experts on Commission
The report naturally will be based only on the present development of these two arms of warfare, although the commission may go so far as to indicate what still further developments the future may hold in store.

The commission has been chosen not only from amongst the world's leading bacteriologists and chemists, but from those countries in which these two sciences have reached their greatest development. The commission is composed of the following chemists: Professor G. Bertrand and M. E. Mayer, of France; Monsieur Nernst, of Germany and Signori Angeli and Paterno, of Italy. The bacteriologists consist of Jules Bordet, of Belgium; Richard Pfeiffer, of Germany; Thomas Madson, of Denmark and W. H. Welch, of the United States.

Germany is the only country that has been honored with a delegate on each branch of the commission.

In his letter of instructions to these commissioners, Sir Eric Drummond, acting under the lines laid down by the League Council and Assembly, has pointed out that the inquiry is not intended to reveal any of the military secrets or scientific discoveries of any country along the lines mentioned, which they may regard as confidential.

They are merely asked instead to set out in the most precise and scientific manner possible the actual results that may be expected in the event of war from the use of gases and microbes. The inquiry is to cover the effects not only on human beings but on animal and vegetable life generally and upon the resources and wealth of the country attacked.

Cover Field Thoroughly
The experts are also asked to pass not only on the results to be expected from gases, but upon the chemical aspect of war generally, including the use of the highest explosives as developed during the recent war.

They will also detail not only what must be expected from a microbe war but from the employment of any other agent, which in defiance of all human laws, might be adopted by a nation because of its great efficiency and destructiveness.

When the report has been made and distributed to the entire world, the League is confident that such a world-wide wave of indignation and horror will be aroused that it will be possible to take some new international steps, presumably through international conferences, towards checking such possibilities.

Indian "Junkets" to Portland Are Ended

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., July 30.—"Junkets" of Indians from the Klamath Indian Reservation to Portland as witnesses in minor Indian cases occurring on the reservation are soon to be a thing of the past.

Fred A. Baker, superintendent on the reservation, has arranged to establish a jail on the reservation and a court of Indian offenses, presided over by three Indians and delegated with authority to deal with the minor misdemeanors of the Redmen.

In former days, an Indian charged with carrying a pint of booze on the reservation was sent to Portland for trial, and cited his friends subpoenaed by government expense, to come and testify for him.

Santa Barbara Finds Valuable Rock Lands

SANTA BARBARA, July 30.—Santa Barbara is breaking a rock famine, which has held up street paving and seriously interfered with building operations, by quarrying rock from native ledges. A great ledge of hard lime rock, which is said to pass by many points the degree of hardness set by the state highway commission and the city engineer's office, has been discovered in Veronica valley, three miles from the city, and San Francisco interests have begun the getting out of the rock and crushing it for the local trade. The discovery will save contractors $100,000 annually on freight charges alone, it is said.

REFORESTATION HELD VITAL TO INDUSTRY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Conservation of America's timber wealth by a nation-wide program of reforestation was urged here before the directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. John D. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Michigan, president of the organization, was the principal speaker on this topic.

Citing the example of the anthracite coal industry, which is threatened with government regulation, as the result of the special inquiry made by the federal commission headed by John Hays Hammond Blodgett urged upon the lumber manufacturers the necessity of setting their house in order before the government steps in.

The present movement for standardization, which it is estimated by Secretary Hoover would save the industry $500,000,000 a year, took its rise more than five years ago, Dr. Wilson Compton of Washington, secretary-manager of the association told the directors. Beginning as a theoretical proposal, it has grown until it has reached the proportions of the report submitted by the committee yesterday, which is the work of representatives of every branch of the lumber industry including technical experts.

After it had developed in discussion that the branches of the industry most at variance over standardization were the North-western and Southern growers, a joint committee of representatives from the two regions to discuss their differences.

KIDDIES WELCOMED TO COLISEUM MEET

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Kiddies from all parts of Southern California will be welcome at the coliseum, Exposition park, Los Angeles, when President Harding arrives at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, August 2. The executive committee, in charge of the arrangements for the president's visit in this section, yesterday announced that there would be ample room in the coliseum and every precaution taken to make the review of the historical pageant of California both safe and comfortable.

The task of mobilizing and seating 80,000 children is so great that the executive committee requests that children coming in from outside towns be accompanied by their mothers or feminine chaperone.

There will be 600 former officers of the World War under command of Philip Dodson; all of whom have volunteered as a patriotic duty for this occasion. There will be 1000 school teachers in addition to the boy scouts. The Red Cross also will have a station on the premises and there will be several drinking water fountains—in fact every facility to take care adequately of the youngsters.

Bear Hunting in Alaska

These articles, which will appear in the sporting page of The Register, were written by George Briggs, well known Santa Ana capitalist and sportsman, who recently returned from the far north on a hunting trip.

I enjoyed my hunt and the record for the shoot was not bad. I saw only eight bears, wounded six and same out with my limit. While the specimens are not record breakers, or even large for Kodiak grizzlies, they are fair and two of them very good. A matter of size is more luck than anything else.

A fur buyer told me of seeing two weeks previously, a bear hide more than nine feet long in perfect fur, killed by a young fellow who was not a hunter, had never shot at a bear or any big game before in his life, and wasn't even hunting. He was out walking and simply took the gun along, saw this bear looking at him, shot, ran home and his friends went back to find a wonderful specimen.

I expect to return north about August 3 and complete the hunt as programmed and if I am lucky I may have something for the gun crank. If I fail, well, I may sneak home with a man's size alibi but take it from me success or failure, I expect to have a good time. I am not crazy about the Indian method of hunting but I'll have to say its effective. I haven't the experience to give anyone advice as I am a novice compared to real hunters but I know some will want to ask: "Is an Alaska bear hunt worth the price?"

Bear Hunting Is Problem.
"Yes, if you've got it. Bear hunting is always a problem—you may find them and you may not and you always hear of the big kills—never the failures. The black bear are more numerous and in certain sections fairly plentiful. There are none on the islands I hunted. The Alaska peninsula is the best place for the big brown fellows and I had hoped to hunt

PRINCESS—"The First Degree," with Frank Mayo.

"THE BEAUTIFUL LIAR" AT YOST TONIGHT

Katherine MacDonald, the beautiful screen star, is both a stenographer and actress in "The Beautiful Liar," the attraction which is coming to the Yost theater tonight for a two-day engagement.

It is an oddity for this star to play a dual role, for her stories in the past have called for but one characterization. But in this instance the story was such an intensely dramatic one that the star chose it despite the fact that she would have to play two parts.

"DIVORCE" COMING TO PRINCESS TUESDAY

Admirers of enchanting Jane Novak will hail with joy the announcement that she is to be seen Tuesday and Wednesday at the Princess in a new photodrama entitled "Divorce." It is reported that while "Divorce" is Miss Novak's most important production dramatically, it abounds in touches of a lighter vein. A reproduction of a famous European "ice palace" is not the least of its colorful features.

Miss Novak's leading man in "Divorce" is John Bowers. Margaret Livingston plays the role of a "man collector" and George Fisher billed as "a bargain in seconds for divorcees."

CHARLES RAY COMEDY AT WEST END

Charles Ray has contributed another brilliant comedy to the screen. It is "Alias Julius Caesar," which opened a five-day run at the West End theater yesterday.

Billy Barnes, suburban golfer, is taken up by the police as an escaped lunatic. By convincing the colored attendant that he is really giving his cellmate the third degree he makes his escape, the cellmate going with him. Congratulating himself on his good fortune in being on time, Ray turns up at the ball at the country club that evening only to find his cellmate, a society crook, there before him.

Before the story can wind to a climax in a call for the police, the star has undergone the torments of gaudiness in becoming an enforced accomplice to the crook. The situation paves the way to numberless events which, highly laughable in their own manner of depiction would be spoiled by the telling.

Nevada Woman Draws Sentence to Prison

HAWTHORNE, Nev., July 30.—Found guilty of grand larceny, Mrs. Mary Spencer-Phillips of Dutch Creek, near Walker Lake, has been taken to the state penitentiary at Carson City to serve a sentence of two to fourteen years. She was convicted of taking valuables from the trunk of a woman with whom she was living.

About a year ago she was arrested on a charge of attempting to poison her 70-year-old husband by placing ground glass in his food, but the complaint was dismissed for lack of evidence. The husband died a few months later.

Cave Under Highway Wrecks Heavy Truck

SAN JOSE, July 30.—To provide funds for the erection of two junior high schools in San Jose, the Board of Education will call a school bond election in October, according to Superintendent of Schools Walter L. Bachrodt.

Emphasizing the need for the additional school facilities, Bachrodt pointed out the remarkable growth registered during the last few years by the city, which has been exceeded by the increase in school attendance. As a result, said Bachrodt, the high school is now obliged to utilize the cafeteria, study hall, locker room, carpenter shop and armory for class room purposes.

RICH WIDOW IN WEDDING HERE IN SECLUSION

"Honeymooning somewhere in California."

This, according to Pasadena and Southern California friends, is virtually all they have been able to learn concerning the present whereabouts of Raymond B. Vickers, Los Angeles business man, and his bride, formerly Mrs. Edward P. Haupt, who were married here last Friday night by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

Mrs. Vickers, daughter of Hu-lett C. Merritt, Pasadena millionaire, is said to be one of the most prominent society women in the Crown City. For two weeks prior to the quiet wedding here she had been a guest at the Arlington hotel in Santa Barbara. The ceremony here was performed in the presence of the bridegroom's brother and Tom E. Coleman, a close personal friend.

Intimate details of the romance leading up to the marriage of the heiress and Vickers were lacking, due to the reticence of Mr. Vickers, Mrs. Merritt, who, it was said, refused to discuss the affair. Mrs. Merritt admitted, however, that neither she nor Mr. Merritt had been present, intimating they had known nothing about an impending marriage.

Mrs. Vickers was married in 1914 to E. P. Haupt of Los Angeles, who, according to a coroner's jury, committed suicide by inhaling gas in 1922.

Raymond B. Vickers is senior partner of the Eban Sales company of Los Angeles.

SLEEPERS AVER ALLEY BUSIEST STREET HERE

What is the busiest street in Santa Ana?

Is Main street, with its endless chain of gleaming cars, its heavy trucks laden with merchandise, its Los Angeles traffic Tia Juana bound, and its thousand-and-one bits of flotsam and jetsam, originating in out-of-the-way points, and centering here in the populous county seat?

Or is it Fourth street, with its hundreds of business places, its clanging trolley cars, its imposing array of parked automobiles, and its rapidly-increasing congestion?

Or, again, it is Broadway, with its wide pavement, its pretentious business houses, its immaculate residences, and its innumerable arteries, tapping various sections of the city?

Is it one of these—or none of them?

None, says R. L. Bisby, manager of the Spurgeon Realty company and chairman of the entertainment committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

None, agrees Mrs. R. L. Bisby, backing up the genial Bob, and smiling broadly.

Well, then, what is the busiest street in Santa Ana?

The busiest street in Santa Ana is an alley!

Such, at least, is the open declaration of Bob Bisby.

And then Bisby, whose "residence" is in the Spurgeon building, goes on to explain the why and wherefore of it all.

"In the rear of this building," Bisby said, "there is an alley, which deserves the title 'the busiest street in Santa Ana'. At any rate, that's what Mrs. Bisby and I think every morning about 4 o'clock, when the stream of traffic begins to course through this highly important channel of community life.

Join in Chorus

"First, the milkman clattering along with his creamy burden for the restaurants and drug stores fronting on Fourth street, comes ripping into the alley long before the pink battalions of dawn have routed the lingering shades of night. The milkman always uses this alley.

"Next, the ice man, bent upon replenishing the 'coolers' of the grocer, the butcher and the soda jerk, battles his way into the maelstrom, and demands a noisy hearing.

"Close upon his heels, comes the packing house clan, bearing meats to the market.

"Meeting in the narrow passageway, the vociferous gentlemen of the truckmen's union, pass the time of day, shout sundry greetings and salutations in basso profundo, and demand the right-of-way, phrasing said demands in English and near English which is picturesque, to say the least.

Noises Varied

"To this alley, which is the feeder for numerous stores lining Fourth street, between Sycamore and Broadway, come, in the cold, gray dawn, all manner of men and vehicles. Strange oaths, intermingled with snatches of song, come floating up to our bedroom, as we bury our head in the pillows and strive to snatch yet a few more moments of sleep.

"Now and then, when the roar from below seems to have abated a bit, there will come the swell of a deep bass voice, with a compass extending to about D below the bass staff, wanting to know, why, in the name of Christopher Columbus, 'them fellers don't make less noise—ain't them people upstairs trying to sleep?'

"Trying to sleep! Trying is right! But what a chance—with your bedroom suspended above the busiest street in Santa Ana."

HELD ON L. A. CHARGE.

L. Gaittain, Mexican, 18; I. E. Bell, 24, white, and W. L. Crawford, 19, white, were arrested here yesterday on advice from Los Angeles that the men were charged with a serious offense.

Prison Money Wizard Is Robbed on Release

NEW YORK, July 30.—Although he proved an investment wizard while serving twenty years in Sing Sing, Joseph Huevischer, 51, tonight is penniless and all his dreams have tumbled around him. Starting on a small allowance from relatives in Switzerland, Huevischer directed investments from within the prison where he was sent for manslaughter so successfully that he had $4700 when he gained his freedom two weeks ago.

While riding through Brooklyn in a motor car Huevischer was stopped at the point of a gun and beaten and robbed of his money.

SEASON'S BEET SUGAR RUN IS UNDER WAY

The beet sugar factory of the Santa Ana Sugar company, at Dyer, today was operating with a full force, grinding the ugly beet into sugar. The big mill started yesterday morning, opening for a full season run, the first full season in several years.

According to C. L. Killen, superintendent, the plant will utilize the product of about 16,000 acres. He estimated that, by the time the plant is closed down, 112,000 tons of beets will have passed through the mill, with approximately 350,000 100-pound sacks the total sugar harvest.

The two 12-hour shifts will give employment to 260 men, he said. The season will be about three and a half months.

The superintendent said that beets delivered at the factory for the first run indicated that the average saccharine content would be satisfactory.

With indications pointing to the wholesale price of sugar ranging higher this year than is usual at the manufacturing season, growers are anticipating better returns for their product.

MARITAL SHIPS PUT ON SAND BY DIVORCE WAVE HERE

July Marriage Failures in Unusual Total, Despite June Bridal Tide

MORE WOMEN ACCUSED
Wedding Anniversaries Gain as Date for Ending Life of United Dwelling

BY GEORGE HART.
June, the month of weddings, July—right next door—the month of divorces.
At least that's the way it is working out in Orange county this year.
All last month, June, they were rushing into it. And all this month, July, they have been turning around and rushing right out again. Meaning, therefore, how staid the state of matrimony is not.
At the courthouse, where Clerk Joe Backs passes out marriage licenses with one hand and takes in divorce complaints with the other, the situation has attracted much attention. It first came to notice when Joe, whose marriage license hand was just recovering from the strain of a strenuous June, found that his divorce hand was tiring rapidly.

Average One Each Day.
Counting, he found that a total of twenty-five divorce suits had been filed to date this month, making an average of about one for every day the courthouse was open for business.

This is an unusual number for one month; doubly unusual for the month next after the month of marriages.
"Must be that the warmth of June affection begins to get oppressive along in July," Backs decided.

Another unusual thing was noted about this July divorce wave. Of the twenty-five actions filed, fourteen were filed by husbands; whereas, ordinarily, the men folks were in pronounced preponderance on the other end of divorce proceedings.

Extraordinary Situation.
Usually it is the wife who comes to court with her complaint of a derelict husband. An even division between the restless sexes would be out of the ordinary, and such a majority of male plaintiffs this month is no less than extraordinary.

An odd coincidence noted was that several of the marital wrecks recorded in these divorce suits oc-

Compact Stories of Pioneers Who Built Enterprises on Firm Foundations That Tidal Waves of Depression Could Not Wash Away—The Future Was Anticipated.

JOHN PARSONS

By TOM LEWIS

Away back in the early '80s, when John Parsons, a promising young merchant of St. Louis, first thought of coming to California, Santa Ana, then a struggling town made up of men and women who had faith in themselves, was on the verge of a boom.

"This boom," said Parsons, who was a familiar figure in business circles here for many years, "was the first thing of the kind the town had experienced, and land values took some strange jumps."

"Up to this time the 'little town,' originally a part of the great Santa Ana de Santa Ana Rancho, and later laid out by William H. Spurgeon in 1869, had been running along quietly, satisfied to take things pretty much as they came. The people were doing fairly well, but Los Angeles promoters thought they saw a chance to make a million."

"Then it was that the lounging room of the old Layman house, the city's leading hotel, at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, where the First National Bank building now stands, became a beehive of activity. Here, during this strenuous year, were assembled some of the strangest characters one would care to see."

Booming Technique Told
If the accounts of the "old-timers" are to be accepted at their face value, and there seems to be no good reason why they should not be, the promoter of those early days knew a thing or two about booming a boom. They even tried, according to some of the pioneers here, to sell the blue sky and vast stretches of the coast along the San Juan Capistrano shore line.

"Even Gospel swamp, later Greenville, got into the running," said Parsons, with a chuckle, recalling the days when many of his customers drove up to his store in Fourth street, bringing load after load of willow wood to be traded for groceries and household necessities.

Gospel swamp, known as the "Egypt of America," was a tract of about 4,000 acres lying in the southerly portion of Santa Ana Rancho.

The swamp was originally settled by a number of families, among whom were more than the usual number of ministers, so the community was noted for the piety and church-going tendencies of its residents, according to Parsons.

Raised Bumper Crops
"As far as I am able to recall it," said Parsons, "W. N. Tedford was the first settler of the tract. Almost every ranch had an artesian well, and they succeeded in raising some bumper crops. A 25-

HOLDS BRIDGE WILL NOT BLOCK TRAFFIC

NAPA, Calif., July 30.—Declaration that a proposed bridge of combined cantilever and cable type over Golden Gate from San Francisco to Sausalito would not interfere with navigation and even if bombed during a war would not block San Francisco bay, was made in an address here at a civic luncheon by Joseph S. Strauss, Chicago bridge engineer.

Discussing the proposed bridge, Strauss said:
All possible conditions can be met. It will not interfere with navigation in any way. It would be the largest bridge in the world.

In my opinion there will be no objection from the war department as soon as it has been made apparent that proper clearance for navigation will be provided. The objection suggested by some that it might be destroyed in case of war, thus obstructing the channel to and from any great naval base that the government might establish on San Francisco bay, is not a good one. Even if the bridge were blown up, the stream is of such width and depth that no obstruction would result.

SEEK TROUBLE AS EVERYDAY ROUTINE

Electricians Complain of Way Locations Given When There's Grief

Columbus had nothing on the Edison company's trouble shooters.

They claim to be the discoverers par excellence.
Frank Gallagher, chief trouble shooter, can recite at length his tales of exasperating attempts to locate country pumping stations with only a slender thread of directions to go by.

Pumping stations all are located by number, according to Gallagher, but the excited owner, who calls in to announce his need for a trouble shooter, forgets that important fact and gives a series of wild directions, which sounds to the office like a Chinese puzzle. He then hangs up the phone and calmly sits down to wait for the Edison man.

Can Learn Names

Then the trouble shooter's troubles begin. He wanders all about the country, frantically searching for the station which was supposed to be located two miles south of Bunkville, half a mile east, and next to the first barn, after the second house, after you pass the Bingsville store.

"Our greatest difficulty is with the people who call in and whose names we can neither spell nor pronounce," said the chief.

"We just put down a few of the last letters in the alphabet, and start out in search of someone whose name sounds like that looks."

"A little first aid stunt the Japanese farmer has discovered causes us more trouble than anything else."

Japanese Blamed
"The Japanese have a pet trick of tying up automatic switches so that they won't work," Gallagher explained, as he described the way in which an automatic switch acts as an ordinary fuse would, to cut the current to a motor if the voltage suddenly is too high or low.

"These enterprising gentlemen tie the switch down so the current will be continuous and the result is lots of trouble—burned out motors, for instance."

"We are getting real hard now and are demanding exact directions, numbers of stations, names, addresses, phone numbers and are even contemplating color of eyes and hair."

"We are determined to get directions which will take us where we want to go and do away with this aimless wandering about the country in search of a pumping station located somewhere where we aren't."

COUNTY'S FREE LIBRARY DATA ANNOUNCED

Showing a growth from nothing to a circulation of 71,591, the second annual report of the Orange county free library has been compiled by Miss Margaret E. Livingston, county librarian, to file with the board of supervisors.

The report showed that the library had an actual income in the year 1922-1923 of $21,874.66, and an actual expense of $17,816.80.

Ten words, however, in the opinion of the librarian, cover the work of the county free library since its inception here less than two years ago.

"A sincere effort to bring the book to the reader," Miss Livingston wrote in report to the supervisors as the aim and growing accomplishment of the institution.

"Much emphasis has been placed on work with schools," the librarian reported, "because of the opportunity to reach the boys and girls of our communities."

Complexities Explained
Something of the complexity of library work was explained in the last paragraph of the report. "The mechanical preparation of books for circulation entails not only the identifying of every copy but the typing of a minimum of three cards per book."

The report showed that the library headquarters, located in the Orange county farm bureau office here, handled during the year a total of 22,019 books.

Miss Livingston's assistants have numbered two; Miss Arline Davis, and Miss Frances Stockebrand.

The complete report follows: "To the Board of Supervisors: The annual report of your department of county free library may be stated in ten words; a

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—What kind of men make the best husbands?

Sometimes it takes a lifetime to find out, and even then there is doubt. But there is one Georgia family that is decided. Each of its three daughter unite in the answer: "Football players make the best husbands."

For within six months the Misses Grace, Loretta and Ruth Jackson, belles in the younger southern social circles, married three stars of the Georgia Tech football team. Now they are respectively Mrs. Dewey Scarborough, Mrs. "Big Six" Carpenter and Mrs. "Daddy" Amis.

All of them are still honeymooning—the Carpenters in Florida, the Amises in California and the Scarbors in Atlanta.

"Sure enough," says Mrs. Scarborough, who has been married the longest of the three sisters, six months to be exact, "football players make the best husbands—though, of course, I've never tried any other kind of husband."

"You can always be sure that you've married a real man if you marry a man who has played through several seasons of football. For, if he wasn't a real man, he never would have stood the test."

She had often seen Scarborough on the gridiron. He was a hero popular with everyone.

Says Mrs. Scarborough: "But there never was a little voice whispering: 'Here's your future husband' when I first saw Dewey. I liked him, of course; everybody did."

"There is nothing like camp life to get people acquainted with each other, is there?" says the young bride.

"We lived in tents and cooked on an oil stove and swam and drove and had a wonderful time. It was there we fell in love."

"Then one day Dewey called me up and said: 'Let's get married today.' I said: 'All right.' And that's all there was to it."

Meanwhile football romances No. 2 and No. 3 were making rapid headway of their own. Loretta had fallen in love with "Big Six" Carpenter, Georgia Tech star of the class of '17, and Ruth had become engaged to "Daddy" Amis, member of last year's class.

"They planned a double wedding," explains their sister, "but they couldn't agree on what kind of wedding to have. One wanted a church wedding; the other a home wedding. Finally each had her own way."

HOT DOGS CRUX OF THIS HOT DAYS YARN

By FRANK DOWSETT

Seeing as how this is the season of hot dogs, a discussion of wienies should be quite de rigueur.

How many of our ardent readers knew before entering upon a perusal of this erudite article that wienies trace back to Vienna, the home and hearthside of Austrian nobility?

Wien and Vienna, you will find, if you consult small brother's geography, are one and the same.

In other words, Wien or Vienna, that is to say, Wien or Vienna, is responsible for the tremendous chain of wienies surrounding Orange county beaches, which, it has been estimated, would, if placed end to end, make a string tie for the man in the moon.

The accuracy of this information is vouched for by G. A. Schweiger, manager of St. Ann's Inn. He received a letter from his home town, Wien, today.

Friends Like Him
Exhibiting the envelope, Schweiger modestly remarked that his friends back there thought so much of him that they went to the extent of spending 1500 kronen to send a letter to their dear "Gustav."

Schweiger declined to estimate the value in dollars or cents of the 1500 kronen. He said his auditor was on strike and that he, Gustav, was not very good at figures.

"Nowadays," Schweiger said, "my friends and relatives in Austria take as big a bundle to market as they carry home with them."

He crooked his arm in illustration. Inditing the gap, he said: "It takes about that much paper money to buy the steak for dinner."

"The letter," continued Schweiger, "tells me that two pounds of lard that used to cost one kronen and forty heller now costs 30,000 kronen."

Suit Costs Fortune
"A tailored suit that in pre-war days cost 50 kronen—I purchased many at that price—now costs 1,500,000 kronen."

"Even the little excursion trip I used to take, about 60 kilometers, for 2 kronen, now costs 60,000 kronen."

The letter took nineteen days to reach Schweiger, whereas, he said, mail used to cross the ocean from Austria to here in ten days.

"Despite these pessimistic figures," Schweiger declared, "one must conclude that the people there have given up hope of reparation. My friend, in this letter, tells me that due to the United States loan to Austria a general feeling of optimism has swept the country."

"Everyone," the letter said, "has felt renewed hope and is working toward building up the country financially, industrially, morally and socially to where it was before the war. They give the credit to the people of the United States who had confidence in them."

Thief Steals Clothes From Swimming Girls
YREKA, July 30.—Mermaids of this city, who have been in the habit of "parking" their clothes in cells of the old city jail while enjoying a plunge in the new memorial tank, have found the practice costly. Jewelry, some silk "unmentionables" and various other articles were stolen by some unkind thief who broke into the ancient bastle while the girls disported in the water.

ORANGE COUNTY SETS PAGE IN CONSERVING S. A. RIVER WATERS

$15,000 to Be Spent Next Year by Tripartite Body, Is Plan

MEET HERE TOMORROW

General Program of Safe-guarding Supply Right, Says Finley

The boards of supervisors of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties will spend $15,000 next year in water conservation work at Barton Flats, in the San Bernardino mountains, if the boards of Riverside and San Bernardino, at the joint meeting to be held here tomorrow, fall into the pace set by the Orange county solons. S. H. Finley, a member of the Orange county board, declared here today.

Pointing out that this county already has agreed to an appropriation of $5000 for the work the coming year, Finley said that the conference tomorrow is for the purpose of seeing if the three boards can agree to an appropriation of equal amount from each county.

Each county appropriated $2000 for the work carried on the past year. Finley said that most of the money had been used in establishing a camp and doing preliminary work, with very little of the money spent in actual conservation work.

He did say, however, that progress made so far thoroughly demonstrated that the general program of conservation is right. He said that five times as much work should be accomplished the coming year, as was accomplished last year.

The program consists of location of ditches along mountain sides to pick up storm waters in small streams and convey them by ditch to flat grounds, where the water would be confined and finally percolate back into the river, two or three months later, instead of running into the Santa Ana river and then being carried down to the ocean—a total waste.

He called attention to the fact that the seepage back into the Santa Ana river would come at a period after the heavy rains and when water in the Santa Ana river is at a premium for irrigating purposes.

acre field of corn, tilled by James Layman, yielded 118 bushels of shelled corn to the acre.

This swamp, incidentally, was the deciding factor that hurried Parsons into the earlier business life of Santa Ana.

"I had a ranch out there," said Parsons, who for 21 years conducted a place of business on Fourth street, "but I soon found that this low ground was playing havoc with my mother's health. She was subject to rheumatism, and this caused me to locate in Santa Ana. I traded the ranch to Frank Rogers for the Fourth-street store. For years we lived over the store. Later I bought two lots, where the Western Auto Supply company store is now located, for $500 each. For the lot 109 by 125, where my home is now located, at the corner of South Main and Chestnut streets, I paid $2400, with a good house on the lot. For the house and lot next door I paid $2200."

Tells Advertisements during the boom of 1887 were advertised as follows:

"Eight beautiful lots in the Lyons tract, on the Tustin street railway, covered with choice apricot and orange trees, $500 each."

"Three lots near Santa Fe depot, Humphrey's addition, $1600, with $500 cash."

"Fifteen acres first-class farming land, 1.4 miles from the center of Santa Ana, in Artesian belt; will make excellent five-acre tracts with east frontage; $700 per acre, one-half cash."

"A No. 1 bargain in house of four rooms, with a 60-foot lot near the Southern Pacific depot; good well, $1100, cash."

"Lots in Robinson's tract, from $275 to $500, one-third cash."

"Lots in Goldsmith's addition, $300, easy terms."

"Two lots in Shelton's addition, fronting on Third and Fourth streets, $1100, with $700 cash; best bargain in that locality."

Served as Councilman
Parsons served as a member of the city council and was active in civic affairs for many years.

Parsons said there was little money in circulation in the early days, but much trading was done. "Many of my customers brought in butter and eggs," he said, "and these were exchanged for the things the people needed. I got so much butter that I had to turn it to the soap manufacturers and others who could use the rancid article. I tell you, we got mighty sick of stale butter. And the eggs were not always fresh. They were not any too prompt about gathering them and they didn't know how to take care of them. Things are a lot better these days."

When Parsons came to Santa Ana there were two newspapers here, three hotels, a school house, three church buildings—Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian—two public halls, one society hall and a large number of small business houses. There were seven ministers, seven doctors, six lawyers and a number of teachers. A public library was contemplated.

Parsons said there was little money in circulation in the early days, but much trading was done. "Many of my customers brought in butter and eggs," he said, "and these were exchanged for the things the people needed. I got so much butter that I had to turn it to the soap manufacturers and others who could use the rancid article. I tell you, we got mighty sick of stale butter. And the eggs were not always fresh. They were not any too prompt about gathering them and they didn't know how to take care of them. Things are a lot better these days."

opinion that the other boards would readily fall in line with the Orange county board and each make an appropriation equal to that of the local board.

With residents of each of the counties coming more and more to realize the necessity for conservation of the waters of the river, it is believed that each year will see an increase in appropriations for the work of sinking waste waters at points where it is certain to find its way back into the river or into the strata supplying wells of the three counties.

It is pointed out that with population in the three counties increasing very rapidly, the time has come when serious consideration must be given to the development of sufficient water to meet the growing demand for domestic water and other uses.

curled on marriage anniversaries. Backs had no explanation whatever for that.

"It's a queer way to celebrate an anniversary," was his opinion. "Sounds to me like a china wedding with lots of dishes flying."

Admittedly, the situation is alarming for Orange county, with its reputation of "the sweetest little county on earth," the same not being founded entirely on sugar factories.

sincere effort to bring the book to the reader.

School Districts Join
"During the year five districts have joined the county library. Community branches were opened at Hewes Park and El Modena. Cypress branch was moved into the school. Modjeska branch was discontinued with the closing of the Inn. We have tried to improve the service already started, with readiness to start new branches where it is desired. Enlarged shelf space has been required at Brea, Garden Grove, Laguna, La Habra, and Seal Beach. Four school libraries have been sorted and all books that were found usable fully cataloged.

"Total book collection June 30 was 22019. Of that number, just after the close of school when many books had been returned to headquarters, the number out in branches was 16938. Much emphasis has been placed on work with schools, because of the opportunity to reach the boys and girls of our communities. All monies received from school library funds have been expended for texts and other material for school-room use. Care is given in the choice of children's books to avoid trashy stories and purchase only those books, old or new, that have been approved by critics as clean and wholesome.

Accuracy Difficult
"In computing the total circulation we are confronted with difficulty in securing accurate statistics. The number given may err by omission, not by exaggeration. In some schools we know that many books are read without being taken from the building, and count is not always kept of the number loaned for home use. Also, no circulation is counted on school texts. Of the 10117 books sent to schools, 5454 were texts, and in addition 1999 texts were retained from last year.

"The number of shipments and items sent out has doubled over the previous report, making a daily average of more than 45 books this year. A full record is kept of the location and date of shipment of every item. The mechanical preparation of books for circulation entails not only the identifying of every copy but the typing of a minimum of three cards per book.

Mob Lynches Negro For Alleged Attack
YAZOO CITY, Miss., July 30.—Willie Mannfield, negro, was burned at the stake in a swamp here yesterday by a mob which accused him of attacking a white woman twenty miles southeast of here, with an ax and inflicting wounds which physicians believe will prove fatal.

Mannfield and another negro were captured by a posse. According to members of the posse, the other negro, whose name is unknown and who later escaped, declared that he stood outside the woman's home while Mannfield went to attack the woman.

Mannfield was taken from the posse by a mob, brought here, tied to a stake and burned to death.

Light Heavyweights Draw Bright Spot; Terry in Semi-Windup Fray

HUNTINGTON BEACH CARD

Main Event—Jack McDonnell vs. Battling Ortega, 175 pounds.
Semi-windup—Young Terry vs. Billy Ketchell, 145 pounds.
Preliminaries—Harry Lee vs. Steve Dalton, 165 pounds.
Matt Sparr vs. Indian Jack Price, 140 pounds.
Johnny Adams vs. Packy Flynn, 130 pounds.
Young Monroe vs. Benny Le Roy, 120 pounds.

Light heavyweights again drew the bright spot on the boxing show to be staged by Jack McDonnell and A. J. Lawton at their Huntington Beach arena next Friday night, the entire card for which was announced today.

Jack McDonnell, the Seattle 175-pounder, who knocked out his opponent in the curtain raiser for the Dempsey-Gibbons battle at Shelby, and who stopped Sam Saman at Huntington Beach two weeks ago, will headline the show with Battling Ortega, veteran San Francisco scrapper, as his punching bag.

Ortega, who once was a main event at Vernon, recently returned from a rather successful invasion of the east. McDonnell is chiefly a k. o. fighter.

Young Terry, the Anaheim boy who seems to get just a little better with every assignment, is matched with Billy Ketchell, the blond San Diego welterweight, for the semi-windup.

Terry Develops Punch
When Terry made his debut in the ring he was clever enough but seemed to lack a punch. This he has developed greatly, however, until his record for his last three fights consists of knockouts. Ketchell will be the toughest opponent of his brief career for the San Diego man has been fighting for years.

They never can accuse Harry Lee, the husky life-guard, of hand picking his opponents. Although Lee has had not more than a dozen ring encounters, he has been pitted against some of the toughest men of the division.

Steve Dalton, whom Lee takes on in the feature preliminary, has fought the best middleweights of the coast in his day. A few years ago Dalton, himself, was regarded as the king of the 158-pounders. Young George knocked him loose from that title. Dalton is a great body puncher, especially with his left hand, and if Lee can stand up under that kind of punishment, he has a good chance of besting his veteran opponent.

Matt Spar On Bill
Matt Spar, a recent arrival from Arizona, drew the next assignment. He will meet Indian Jack Price.

Johnny Adams, one of the cleverest little boys of his weight on the coast, will tangle with Packy Flynn, a capable opponent, in the second fray of the night. It's a good bet that Adams will be higher up on the card after the fans have taken a good look at him.

The San Bernardino boy is a demon on action and likes nothing better than to stand toe to toe and mail away until either he or his adversary drop to the canvas.

Adams, incidentally, is the only lad who ever knocked out Kid Louie, the speedy Placentia bantamweight.

Young Monroe, Los Angeles southpaw, and Benny Le Roy, a familiar face to Vernon and Hollywood bugs, will get the curtain raiser money.

PROMOTERS OBJECT TO NEW TITLE BOUT

NEW YORK, July 30.—Efforts to have the boxing commission interfere with the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight championship fight arranged by Tex Rickard for September 14, may be made by rival promoters of Rickard and backers of Harry Wills, the colored challenger, it was learned today.

Objection has been raised to the match in both quarters on the ground that Wills should have priority over the South American because he challenged first, in the official manner, with a posting of a forfeit.

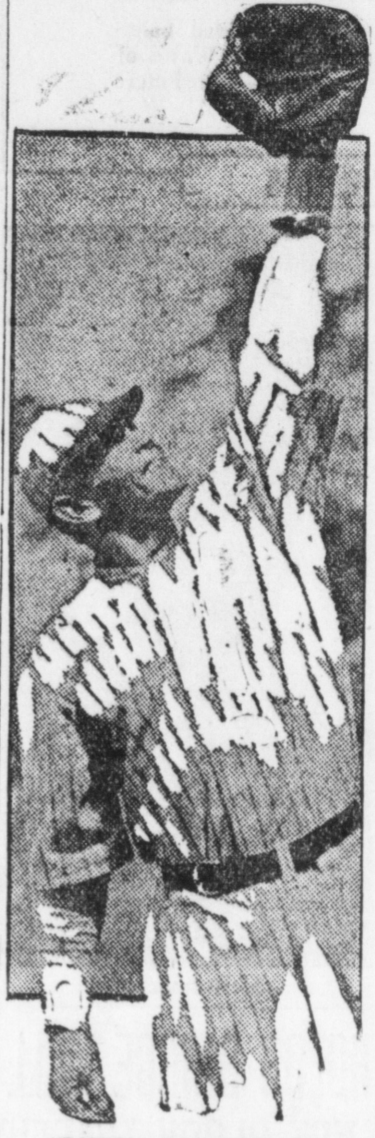

Paddy Mullins, manager of the colored challenger, said to day that he would attend the regular meeting of the boxing commission tomorrow afternoon and call attention to the fact that his challenge apparently has been ignored.

Mullins denied that he had retained counsel to press his appeal or to take it into the courts.

Rickard and the commissioners are remaining silent but it is understood that the commission will grant Dempsey a license to fight and approve the Dempsey-Firpo fight on the grounds that while Dempsey and Wills once signed articles for a contest, no promoter had made an official attempt to stage the match and that the commission cannot make matches or interfere with other matches that are made in accordance with the rules.

"Dutch" Schliebner Helps St. Louis as Sisler Understudy

"DUTCH" SCHLIEBNER, grabbed by Manager Lee Fohl of the St. Louis Browns as a last resort, drew the toughest assignment in baseball when he was picked to fill in for George Sisler, voted the most valuable player in the American league last year, but now out of the game on account of illness.

Schliebner is no Sisler but he has been hitting better than .300 and playing a splendid fielding game.

During the recent clay court championships, Bill Tilden, the greatest of them all, protested about the conduct of the gallery during one of his matches.

Some comment suggested that no game man would allow the crowd to bother him.

Tilden's objections were on purely ethical grounds. It is considered very poor etiquette for a tennis gallery to applaud a champion's errors and much worse to make any kind of a demonstration while a point is being played.

There is no gamer player on the court than Bill Tilden, and there is no finer sportsman, or none who has done more for tennis.

While Tilden was playing Norton, three years ago at Wimbledon, the crowd was decidedly pro-Norton, and it applauded every point he made, but Tilden never opened his mouth.

British galleries, schooled in etiquette, applauded after the point had been made, and Tilden accepted that as being proper.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Bobby Jones, young Atlanta golfer, is one of the best examples of pluck, patience and persistence to be found on the entire list of sport's star athletes.

It took 21-year-old Bobby just seven years to rise to the height of golf when he won the American national open championship, one of the great prizes that the game offers.

When he was a 14-year-old boy, it was too much to expect that he would win a national championship. When he was 16 the job was still too heavy for such youthful shoulders, but when he came to 19 it was expected that he should begin to deliver.

Many theories were advanced when he failed to live up to the reputation that he had established as the "boy wonder" of golf. He was said to have been retarded by the adulation he received in his kid days; it was suggested that he had too much temperament to become a champion, and finally it was intimated that he didn't have the "heart" to get "out of the rough" that is on the course of every championship.

No greater test of his courage could have been asked than that which he faced when he was forced to play off a tie for the championship in Inwood. Where he failed previously on the last hole, causing some to sniff that he couldn't "carry weight," he rose to the heights of brilliance in the last hole of the crucial test and won from an opponent whose gameness never had been questioned.

During the recent clay court championships, Bill Tilden, the greatest of them all, protested about the conduct of the gallery during one of his matches.

Some comment suggested that no game man would allow the crowd to bother him.

FULLERTON TO JOIN T. N. T. GRID LEAGUE

North County School Asks Admittance to Circuit; Will Be Accepted

Fullerton high school has sent to Harry J. Moore, president of the T. N. T. Athletic league, now consisting of Santa Ana, San Diego, Pasadena and Long Beach, it was learned here today.

This virtually means, it was declared, that "Shorty" Smith's Fullerton football eleven, always a dangerous adversary, will officially withdraw from the Orange league and cast its lot this fall with what sport followers predict will be the fastest interscholastic organization in the state.

At the same time, D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, said that Moore, who is vice-president of the Long Beach high school, had requested him to send a list of the open dates on the football schedule of the local grid team.

Forms Tentative Schedule
Moore said Fullerton's application undoubtedly would be favorably acted on and that, working on that idea, he planned to evolve a tentative schedule for the football season, with Fullerton games included.

This tentative schedule, it was believed, will be submitted to the five schools concerned so that when the new league holds its first official meeting the second week of September the way will be clear to adopt an official schedule.

Since Santa Ana battled Fullerton at Fullerton last fall, the annual "big game" between these two rivals undoubtedly will be played at Poly field, Santa Ana, this year.

Meet Fullerton Here
Beside the game with Smith's eleven, the locals will get at least one other league fray on its home lot.

With the beginning of football season less than two months away, Ed Covington, newly elected Poly coach, is putting in his spare time at "Gloomy Gus" Henderson's coaching school at Los Angeles.

Covington will return to Santa Ana the latter part of August. Whether he will call for a turnout of grid candidates before school opens here is problematical.

The turf at Poly field has been kept in good condition during the summer, and only a few days work is needed to have the field ready, if necessary, for a regular game, high school officials said.

Dead Horse Is Cache For Bootleg Liquor
WHEATLAND, Wyo., July 30.—Prohibition officers operating in Four-J county have learned a new trick as regards the hiding of illicit liquor. Authorities recently raided the ranch of Chris Fletcher and allege that they found a large barrel of whisky cached beneath the carcass of a deceased horse lying on a hillside.

LUMBER FIRM SAID TO HAVE BIG BACKERS

NEWPORT BEACH, July 30.—With the granting of a lease by the board of trustees to R. C. Patterson for use of the Newport pier for a period of 10 years to unload lumber vessels comes the question of what financial interests are behind the enterprise.

This question was raised at the meeting in an effort to get the lumber people to show their financial responsibility, but Mr. Patterson and his lawyer, Stanley Rinehaus, remained discreetly silent.

One significant fact, however, was apparent, and that was the presence of George Daly, manager of the Holly Sugar company at Huntington Beach, at the trustees' meeting, in company with Mr. Patterson. In fact Mr. Daly has been at several sessions, but has never made a statement in open meeting.

Has Delhi Plant
It is well known that the Holly Sugar company has a dismantled building and grounds at Delhi, on South Main street, Santa Ana. It has been intimated that this could make an ideal location for a whole-sale lumber yard and a sash and door factory, such as Mr. Patterson contemplates. Saw and planing mills could also be accommodated very nicely.

This suggestion naturally brings up the question of whether the Patterson lumber interests seriously intend to establish this yard and factory in the vicinity of Newport harbor, as Mr. Patterson has led those who have heard him discuss his plans to believe.

At the trustees' gathering Monday George Peabody asked if Mr. Patterson would be able to do all the things he had agreed to in the lease; that it would be unfortunate at this time to have a "kick back" in the proceedings and give Newport Beach a black eye, and that the financial responsibility of the promoters should be revealed.

Vouches For Standing
Aside from a statement by City Attorney Clyde Bishop that he was satisfied as to their financial ability to carry out the project, no intimation was given by the promoters as to who their backers were.

The lease voted by the board provides that the lumber people must bear the cost of a survey, engineers, extension of the dock, repairs and such other expense as would be incurred. This will easily run close to $100,000. The largest ship to come alongside the pier can not be more than 500 feet long, with a 50-foot beam and 10,000 tons net burden. They will use the east side of the dock and must start work within 120 days and the first vessel must come in within 180 days. The minimum amount of lumber to be brought in yearly is 12,000,000 feet. The lumber people can only use the pier for lumber and for no other kind of commerce.

Father Junipero Serra's Church At Old Mission Capistrano Again To Shelter Those Who Seek God

The walls of the original Serra church at San Juan Capistrano have been restored under the guiding hands of Father St. John O'Sullivan, to whom it has been a labor of love. Above is a picture of the restored church. Installed inside is an elaborate Plateresque altar claimed by art critics to be one of the finest of its kind. It was shipped from Spain and is twenty eight and a half feet high.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 30.—The restoration of one of the oldest churches in America, the Serra church of Mission San Juan Capistrano, is nearing completion here.

Just as a few padres toiled nearly a century and a half ago to raise a church of God, so are workmen today carefully replacing the same building.

Mission San Juan Capistrano is credited with being the only church now standing in Southern California in which Father Junipero Serra preached and confirmed.

Constructed of adobe mud, its walls four feet thick, the old Serra church stood the passing of the years, serving as the parish church for 107 years.

Father Serra's last sermon in the church dates from 1778, according to records.

Completed in 1809
About 1809 the stone church, designed as a cathedral, was completed, and the Serra church abandoned for a time.

In 1812, an earthquake demolished the massive stone cathedral, and the parish removed again to the Serra wing, wherein services were held until the rains finally made the adobe Serra church unsafe, and another was erected.

In abandoning the Serra church, the fathers carefully walled it off, according to Father St. John O'Sullivan, now father of the parish, and the one to whom all of Southern California owes the great debt of gratitude for his work in restoring Mission San Juan Capistrano.

In the early nineties, the Landmarks Society, headed by Charles F. Lummis, placed a roof over the rapidly disappearing ruins of the mission, and saved it from total destruction.

Credit Given Society.
According to Father O'Sullivan, had these men not done this, the mission would have been a heap of mud.

"To them belongs all the credit," he said.

BABY SHOW AT BEACH DRAWS CROWD OUT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 30.—A baby contest, at which the baby having the curliest hair, the one having the most teeth, the one having the most hair, the fattest, thinnest, fairest, darkest, youngest and many other qualifications, except for the prettiest baby, was held, and prize ribbons awarded at the annual meeting of the officers and teachers of the Methodist Sunday school entertainment of cradle roll and beginners departments, at the church last Friday afternoon.

The heads of the departments decided not to pass judgment on the prettiest baby in order to keep absolute harmony and good feeling.

The meeting is held each year in order to give the parents of the children in these departments a chance to see the progress of the children and the way in which they are handled. The entire program was put on by the two departments in charge of their teachers.

This was the first meeting of the mothers of the two departments together, as each department usually has its own annual entertainment. Over 125 people were present at the affair.

The little children under the direction of Mrs. George King, general superintendent, Miss Emmeline Garrett, superintendent of the cradle roll department, and Mrs. A. J. Thedick, superintendent of the beginners department, supplied a fine program to their audience.

A "Motion Bird Song" by the whole department was the first on the program. It was followed by recitations by Miss Katherine Vavra and Miss Eleanor Miller. Two finger plays included in the regular work of the department were followed by a song.

Recitations by Joseph Hitterdahl and Milo Riley were followed by a motion song "The Finger Family" which concluded the exhibition.

The plays given are all in the regular work and all have a moral for the young people.

Three sets of twins were present at the party, they were the E. A. Rimmel children, Fern and Fay, five years of age. The E. J. Hill twins, Robert and Marion, and the Holt twins. One of the Sunday school teachers is also a twin. Four generations of the Shamel family were present. Rev. Shamel is pastor of the church.

Games for the kiddies were held in the bungalow under the direction of Miss Edith Colburn.

Hyland was arrested coming from Titus' house and six pints of alleged illegal beverage was taken from him. He pleaded guilty to the charge of possessing liquor and was fined $300. He paid. The men were arrested at 416 Ninth street.

The raiding party was composed of Officers Roy Ballard, J. A. Randall, J. L. Stanton, W. H. Stanton and was headed by Chief Jack Tinsley.

"Peeping Tom" Has Dog With Him Say Women to Officers

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 30.—Chief of Police Jack Tinsley and Patrolmen W. H. Stanton and J. L. Stanton answered a call to 616 Eighth street Friday evening when residents of that neighborhood complained of a mysterious person peeping in the bedroom windows.

Numerous complaints have been received from that section it is said. Former reports have it that a man with a dog was making the rounds of the houses for some time, but the person sighted Friday night was accompanied by no dog. The person, whoever it is, is very irregular in his calls and is only seen occasionally.

Nothing further had been heard of him up to this morning.

DANCING PARTY IS FOR REBEKAH LODGE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 30.—The first entertainment of the Rebekah lodge to be given for the purpose of raising money to buy new robes for the members will be a dance given in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The meeting was the first to be in charge of the new officers, headed by Mrs. Elsie Huskinsen. The new officers were installed at a joint meeting between the Rebekahs and the I. O. O. F. lodge at a meeting held Tuesday, July 17, in the lodge hall.

The general meeting procedure was followed and several new committees were appointed by the president. Further plans for the dance are to be worked out in the near future.

Refreshments of hot coffee and cookies were served at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held in the lodge hall Thursday, August 9. The organization holds its meetings the second and fourth Thursdays of every month.

Crab Fight Draws Crowd to Pier to See Pinchers Work

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 30.—Fishing off the pier here the last few days has been very good. Saturday several extraordinarily large sea and rock bass and also some good sized halibut were caught by local anglers. Many smaller fish were being hooked. The anglers who spend their time farther in reported they carried home several corbina and surf fish.

One young man caused a flurry of excitement when he pulled in two very large hard shelled crabs. The crabs deposited on the pier lived up to their names and a fight was in immediate progress.

Urged on by the mob of spectators which surrounded them, they fought savagely for several minutes and then, evidently tiring of the sport, slid away from one another and tried to go to "sleep." The mob, however, would have nothing to do with them if no fight was shown and they were promptly turned on their backs to wave their mighty pinchers in the air. One of them was covered with barnacles.

The Meat of the Wheat

STARCH is the "meat" of the wheat berry. It is the great energy-producing element of the grain.

But, in order to do you any good, it must be thoroughly digested, and it is right here that such a food as Grape-Nuts renders special service.

Grape-Nuts, made from wheat and malted barley, supplies the meat of the wheat in most digestible form.

That is because in the making of Grape-Nuts a large proportion of the starch is converted into dextrins and maltose—forms into which all starch elements must be changed before they can be assimilated by the system.

Grape-Nuts not only digests easily, but also aids in the digestion of other foods.

Crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food. It supplies the life-essential vitamin-B; also iron, phosphorus and other important mineral elements for nerve, tooth, bone and other body structure.

The daily use of Grape-Nuts is a form of health insurance which has demonstrated its value for more than 25 years.

S. F. PREPARES TO CARE FOR LEGION MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—"The Legionnaires come by automobile, we can readily provide suitable parking privileges for their motor caravans with splendid camping facilities for the motorists," Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett said today in a statement concerning the national convention of the American Legion here next October.

"Those in Pullman cars, which they propose occupying during their stay here, will have the cars placed on sidings located very close to the downtown district; and, if they desire to be put up in hotels, we can take good care of them."

EVENING SALUTATION

There is in the soul a taste for the good, just as there is in the body an appetite for enjoyment.
—Joubert.

AN INCREASE IN IMPORTS

The last twelve months have witnessed the nation's heaviest buying in Europe. For the first time in our history, imports from Europe have reached an aggregate of $1,100,000,000. Of this huge amount, Great Britain furnished more than one-third.

This would not seem to occasion pessimism on the part of European financial prophets. To some extent it does, however, for the reason that while the amount we have bought in Europe has been greater than ever before, the European percentage of our total world trade has gone, not up, but down. The $1,100,000,000 represents but 42.6 per cent of our total imports from the world at large, and while the amount is the largest in our history, the percentage is the lowest.

The great war did not wreck civilization, however closely it may have come to it, but it did bring a readjustment of world power and world commerce which will prove more and more important and apparent as the years pass. The Aegean, the Mediterranean and the Atlantic have been centers for civilization. The growing volume of our imports from South America, Africa, Asia and Australasia seem to indicate that the Pacific is to have its chance.

AN AMERICAN ADMIRAL

The recent death of Rear Admiral Sigsbee, captain of the Maine at the time that battleship was blown up, brings to public attention a man whose career was varied and successful and whose life was interesting as well as full of service.

Admiral Sigsbee was a writer, a deep sea explorer, an inventor, a cartoonist and an illustrator as well as an active naval officer. He left Annapolis just in time to serve in the Civil War. He served at different times in naval squadrons in the West Gulf, the North Atlantic and Asiatic waters. He founded the course of mechanical draftsmanship at Annapolis. His invention of several instruments for deep sea sounding work brought him distinction abroad and in America. The instruments are still in use. He was in command of the fleet that brought the body of John Paul Jones back to this country from France. He was on duty at various times at the naval academy, with the hydrographic survey and with the coast survey.

Interest in the United States navy too often centers in the ships themselves and the public loses sight of the interesting lives of the men who run the ships.

TRADE PEACE WITH CANADA

Canada's recently authorized embargo on pulpwood from freehold lands may seem to invite trade war between the two countries. This nation might begin its retaliatory measures with embargoes on coal, oil, sulphur and other products greatly needed by the Canadian mills.

But where would it all lead to? Who would profit by it? Certainly neither Canada nor the United States would profit. Whatever the immediate cause provoking Canada's action, it would seem to be up to the United States to try conciliation rather than retaliation. Friendly concessions from this side of the border should lead to concessions from the other side. Peace in trade and prosperity between these two great democracies is as possible as their long-standing and noteworthy peace in all other matters.

FOUNDED ON FACT

A lot of our fairy tales and nursery jingles are really historic, in that they are exaggerated from a basis of facts. Mother Goose was a real person, her name Mary Goose, buried in Boston. She wrote her rhymes for her grandchildren. Her son, a crafty printer, published them for other children.

The latest discovery is that Little Jack Horner was also a real person. He lived in England about 250 or more years ago. His home—purchased by one of his ancestors, Sir John Horner—will be sold at auction. It's the Mills estate, in Somersetshire, 6000 acres. And we wonder who Jack and Jill were? And Old Dog Tray?

The French and the Ruhr

San Francisco Chronicle.
There is no doubt that the German government hopes to cut reparation payments to the bone. Whether from fear of popular uprising or in collaboration with industrial magnates who have added enormously to their fortunes by paying off their debts in worthless paper, is not known.

There can be no question that solely from the French standpoint there is ample justification for occupying the Ruhr, or Berlin for that matter. There has been no sympathy for Germany since the government, with the approval of its people, shamelessly invaded Belgium, whose neutrality it was pledged to maintain. Since that day nobody has had the slightest confidence in the German national faith, although we know that there are multitudes of individual Germans who are as square and dependable as any other people on earth.

Nevertheless the interests of the world are paramount to those of France or any other one nation, and it is better, even for France, and at the cost of national bankruptcy, to lose all its reparations justly due than for Central Europe to go the way of Russia. And that was what was feared by all and earnestly predicted by many, when the French occupied the Ruhr. It was predicted that the crisis would come about midsummer and midsummer is here.

The public does not know the internal condition of Germany. Governments are far better informed, but do not make public what they know. But it is certain that if they were confident that all would turn out well, that confidence and the facts to sustain it would be given wide publicity for the encouragement of the world. Destructive food riots in a manufacturing city of more than half a million people, involving establishment of martial law, are ominous. It cannot be merely a local condition. It is certain that the German communists get hold of day by day and it seems to be true that the fear of the German government grows stronger.

In respect to the outcome of this situation there are optimists and pessimists. The Chronicle stands with the optimists. We cannot believe that sanity will not in the end prevail. But it is folly to ignore undoubted dangers, and it is in that light we must consider the attitude of the British government.

The Philippine Squabble

San Francisco Chronicle.
The people of the United States know Governor-General Wood. He has a long record as a soldier and as an administrator of disturbed populations. In every case in which he has served in that capacity he has secured the respect and confidence of honest men of all sides and the fear and detestation of every financial or political crook.

The Philippine politicians are fairly comparable to the lower-grade politicians of our own country, whose purpose is personal pecuniary gain from political work. A half century ago, and perhaps later, in this country actual bribery of officials in large cities was common and fraud in public contracts. There is little of that now in our worst governed cities. The effort is to get minor officials who do not have to be bribed. Data are lacking to enable one to judge of the precise stage of the art of predatory politics as it now exists in the Philippines. But fundamentally the effort of the Philippine politician is to exploit the mass of his own countrymen, deriving his personal gain by the diversion of tax money, speculative loans on insufficient security from public financial institutions, or the unjust exploitation of labor by official aid or connivance as opportunity offers. In getting "concessions" for mineral or other purposes on public lands, bribery is suspected by some in a position to judge. It is known that Philippine administration wrecked the National Bank, which the Philippine taxpayers had to make good. It is also stated upon responsible authority that the health service, the roads, the schools, and even the judiciary, have deteriorated under Philippine control.

As trustees of the welfare of the Philippine masses the American people desire the very best and most just and economical government which can be given. Our wishes in that respect are all that the most exalted idealism could ask. If we have in the country one who, as Governor-General, can best promote that end it is Governor-General Wood. But he cannot do his duty without enraging the Filipino politician.

The Philippine Broil

Pasadena Star-News.

The Philippine Legislature is making a sorry spectacle of itself in voting unanimously to demand the recall of General Wood as Governor-General of the islands. This resolution is being sent to President Harding. It will be ignored or turned down. Course of members of the cabinet, in resigning recently, was endorsed. In this connection Emilio Aguinaldo, former revolutionary leader, is taking the proper and peace-promoting stand. He is urging the Filipino people to preserve their equanimity and to strive for peaceful settlement of the questions at issue. This is commendable on the part of the former trouble maker, who has become reconciled to American governmental methods in the islands. In truth, Senator Aguinaldo has shown very laudable spirit in pacifying himself and his following and in leading his people to accept the American political regime in the islands and to make the best of conditions for their own good in future.

General Wood undoubtedly is doing his very best for the Filipinos and his very best perhaps is better than any other living man could do in the same position. His ripe experience in dealing with local peoples and his sympathetic interest in them especially fit him for the great task to which he was assigned in Manila.

They Drew a Split

Stockton Independent.

The convention of the farmer-labor delegates at Chicago made little progress toward electing a president; in fact, the net result of the meeting appears to have been a split in their ranks and the formation of two parties, the Farmer-Labor, and the Federated Farmer-Labor. The men who are behind the farmer-labor movement are of a temperament that will prevent co-operation for any great length of time. Otherwise they would continue their affiliation with one or the other of the two major parties. There have been numerous third party movements in the history of the country, but none of them ever gained more than an insignificant percentage of either House of Congress and none ever elected a president. "Those facts are available to anybody who cares to be guided by them. The Chicago delegates were simply flying in the face of precedent. What they want is excitement and a chance to denounce the Republican and Democratic candidates. That they will get, but nothing else.

Maine Commander Dies

Long Beach Press.

One of the most horrible tragedies in the history of the United States navy is recalled graphically by the death of Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, February 15, 1898, ever will be a black memory in naval annals. Blowing up of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, by which 264 lives were lost and a gallant ship was sunk, horrified the world and aroused this nation to a blaze of wrath. That tragedy of the sea precipitated a war with Spain and drove that country from its colonial possessions in the West Indies and in the Philippines. It brought relief to Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines—relief from the cruelties of despotic rule.

Charles D. Sigsbee was captain and commander of the Maine and was aboard the vessel at the time of the disaster. His conduct at that trying time was admirable and maintained the splendid traditions of the United States navy. There was much heroism among even the humblest of the survivors. The Maine tragedy brought quick freedom to millions, and is another illustration of the good that oftentimes is wrought in the wake of a great disaster.

See Relief for Alaska

San Francisco Chronicle.

Pinchot and his assistants so completely bound up Alaska with bureaucratic red tape that its progress was stopped for nearly twenty years. We have seen it stated, apparently on authority, that no less than 128 "bureaus" are exercising over Washington jurisdiction over the unfortunate people of Alaska. As the bureaucrats, in the nature of things, can know little or nothing about Alaska, about all they can accomplish is to prevent anybody from doing anything.

Unquestionably it was this deplorable situation which caused the President to make Alaska the main objective of his Western trip, taking with him the heads of the three departments most directly interested.

And, having seen, Secretary Hoover announces that action will follow. "Within three months," the Secretary says, things will be doing. He does not expect any "rush" to Alaska, but does predict that in due time Alaska will be cut into four or five full fledged states.

Looking for Oil

Redlands Facts.

Word comes of the strike of a gas pocket at a shallow depth near East Highlands. It is to be hoped that some of the oil development being carried on, or in prospect, in this valley, can be taken to a fruition, so that we may learn, once for all, whether or not there is a lake of petroleum below us.

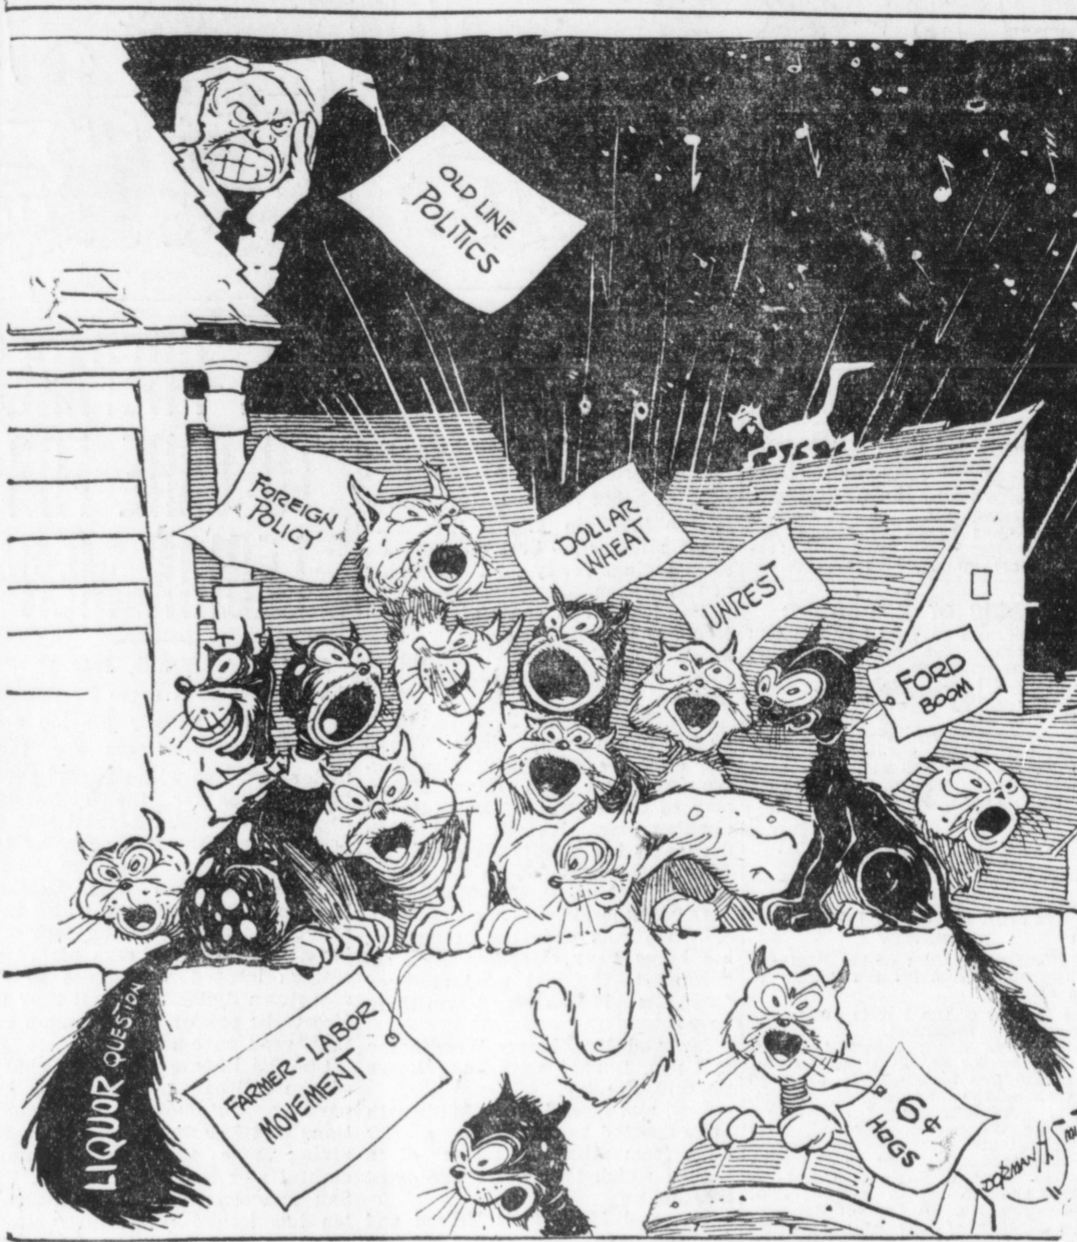

Geologists of the older class have repeatedly said that the granite formation underlying this territory precludes any oil deposit.

But the well in the Alessandro section of Riverside county has demonstrated that this granite is but a stratum, not a solid deposit. This may make a difference.

Europe Wants to Work

Minneapolis Journal

Washington is urging exporters to special effort to keep the foreign markets that have been acquired and warn against the competition of a recovering Europe. The warning is timely. But the competition of European goods in such fields as Latin America will be a small price to pay for the immense advantage of a Europe gone to work, to our farmers. For the great markets are those of Europe, and they will remain so for the lifetime, anyhow, of all of us.

Russia is out of the reckoning as a food producer, and that fact is in favor of our farmer for the time being and probably for ten or fifteen years to come. France has reorganized industrially with latest equipment; she prepares to take the place of Germany in some degree. Germany herself, must come down off her perch, and is sure to do so, now or later, in her own interest as well as that of her creditors. The French have her beaten in the Ruhr, and Berlin must accommodate her action to that fact. Great Britain is far along the road to recovery, and the gloomy prognostications of Lloyd George, who talks like the politician out of a job, can be taken with a grain of salt.

So can the railings at Europe of some of our senators down at Washington. Europe is doing a lot better than might have been expected. She is not going Bolshevik as was threatened a year or two ago, nor is she returning to militarism, as the calamity-howlers announce. On the contrary, she is going the other way as fast as circumstances allow.

We Americans have every interest in seeing Europe flourish again. If we are set back thereby in the minor markets somewhat, we shall be more than recompensed by the major market, which is Europe. After all, exchange of commodities means prosperity. The flow of gold is not the flow of real wealth. The more we take of Europe's gold and the more Europe takes of our products, the better for us and her. When Europe has commodities to exchange for our products, then we have sound prosperity. And if a seemingly advantageous money situation here retards that process, the loss is ours as well as Europe's.

THE MIND OF A CHILD

The mind of a child is a garden place,
Where the sweetest of flowers grow;
Where sometimes they live, in silent grace,
As a rose lives under the snow.
Where sometimes they bloom, these blossoms rare,
More wonderfully every day;
Oh, we who are grown-ups must take care
That they do not fade away.

We must tend the gardens with loving hands,
And gather the blooms with pride;
We must show that the kind heart understands,
With a sympathy deep and wide.
For a garden, to grow with a healthy zest,
Must know patience and faith supreme
Oh, a garden that's helped will do its best
To sparkle and glow and gleam!

Violets and bluebells and mignonette,
Thoughts that are as fine as lace;
Pansies for dreams that one can't forget,
When glimpsed on a small child's face.
Lilacs and tulips and maiden-hair,
And lilies as pure as snow—
Oh, we who are grown-ups must take care,
That the garden is helped to grow!

—Margaret E. Sangster.

Highways Not So Bad

San Bernardino Sun

Here's something which amounts to a defense of the State highways. It perhaps was not written with that wholly in mind, but rather as some interesting comment based on personal observations. Editor E. P. Clarke of the Riverside Press has just returned from a motoring trip that took him to a northern California boundary, or close to it. He reports that the distance covered was 1,842 miles, and that not over 25 or 30 miles showed "highway conditions that can be called bad."

That's about the best testimony for the State highway system in general that we have heard. From what we read in the papers these days, one might be persuaded that the entire system of pavements is going to pieces. Mr. Clarke seems to think it an unwarranted allegation, for he thus summarizes this feature of his trip:

There have been times on the trip when I felt that I could qualify for the writing of a dissertation on "Detours I Have Negotiated and Steam Shovels I Have Encountered." There are a few trying detours and there is not very pleasant to drive up a steep hill and find a big steam shovel at the top tearing the bank to pieces, depositing great piles of dirt and rocks in big lumbering trucks and blocking the road almost completely. However the detours mean more paved road; the steam shovels mean sharp curves eliminated; and the workers on the highway are very courteous in the helping attitude over these bad spots.

We drove 1,842 miles on the trip over state roads most of the way and not over 25 or 30 miles of that distance showed highway conditions that can be called bad. That covers detours where construction is going on or repairs are being made. As I have already indicated, part of the Redwood highway is still unpaved but paving is going on and other improvements are being made, such as widening, graveling and putting up guard rails. There are places along the south fork of the Eel river where guard rails are still urgently needed and the widening of the roadbed and the reduction of some of the sharper curves will add much to the feeling of security of the driver.

There is a type of paving going in near Willets that deserves study. A roadbed of coarse rock is made and packed thoroughly by a heavy steam roller. Then a gravel surface is put on and that is packed again. No concrete and no asphalt is used, nothing but rock and gravel, but the result is certainly a fine road.

We must have driven over practically 1,600 miles of paved state highway and with the exception of a few miles, the roads are in splendid condition. No more foolish and ridiculous falsehood was ever perpetuated in California than the statement that the state highways have all gone to pieces. They are better constructed, better maintained and show less deterioration than the highways built by cities and counties. The worst paved roads we saw on the entire trip were in the city limits of Los Angeles in the San Fernando valley (Los Angeles Times please copy.)

It is true that the extensive use of the truck has forced a revision of our standards of highway construction and the problem is far from solved yet. The state, however, has certainly done its part to meet the problem.

It must be admitted that there is no little exaggeration when it comes to the question of roads. The editor of The Sun had heard the Old Trails highway across the San Bernardino county desert roundly condemned as a road to be avoided, but he was a member of a party last December, which drove from Needles to Barstow, 160 miles, in six hours, and was ready to aver that he had encountered much worse roads than this. And if Editor Clarke found only 30 miles of bad road in more than 1,800 miles up and down the state, California has some roads left.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

JUNE 30, 1909

While there was some objection to the by-law, the directors of the Water Conservation association, composed of representatives of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, adopted a rule to the effect that water shall not be diverted from the river on to waste places unless the water in the river is running as far down as the Olive bridge. Officers of the association elected yesterday are: President, Francis Cutler, Riverside; vice-president, E. E. Keech, Santa Ana; secretary, E. J. Yoakum, Highland; treasurer, E. D. Roberts, San Bernardino.

State Mineralogist Aubrey estimates that Orange county's output of oil for 1908 was 3,376,689 barrels, worth $2,532,517.

Marie Grecht was rescued from drowning in a cistern at the home of Robert Appel, Orange.

Two boys jumped into the cistern and held the little girl up until help arrived.

The Bryan club last night passed a resolution in favor of the income tax and declared itself as intending to oppose the election of any legislator who is not pledged to support the income tax.

J. H. Maley, 1318 North Main, has notified the city police that a swarm of bees have settled on a tree at his home.

Forty-three Orange county boys and ten from San Bernardino are in Camp Wilson, the Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina.

Miss Stella Brown has set what is believed to be the best record made in local apricot pitting camps. In one day, on the Fuller ranch, corner of McFadden and Lyon streets, she pitted 1466 pounds of apricots.

Ship Subsidy

The territory of Alaska has a ship subsidy limited to $12,500 annually. It has been in force for the past two years in order to maintain mail and passenger service between Seward and Resurrection Bay and remote ports on the Alaskan Peninsula and Westward Islands. But for this, communication between those outlying settlements on the fringe of America's last frontier would be limited largely to four or five months out of each year.

NO. 22—WHAT THE GLOOMS SAID

"Sh! Sh!" whispered all the little glooms to Nancy and Nick. "Old Cross Patch lives over yonder behind a hedge of nettles, a thicket of smartweed and a jungle of thistles. That's why we can't get at him to get his bad old magic stick away from him."

"Oh, that's nothing!" scoffed Nancy. "We have magic shoes that can take us anywhere. Haven't we, Mister Sky Bow?" And she turned to the kind fairyman who had brought them to Wet Blanket Town.

"Sure they have!" nodded Mister Sky Bow. "They're the finest magic shoes the Fairy Queen had in her magic store house and the Twins wear 'em everywhere. They can get over all the thistles in Christendom."

"Good!" said all the little glooms gloomily, for being so gloomy they couldn't talk any other way. "Then come! We'll take you as near to the place as we
